White House Rushing Aid To Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — President Johnson pumped men, money and materials into hurricane-torn Louisiana today as the New Orleans coroner slashed his estimate of the probable death toll.

The White House dispatched $2 million as a token start toward helping rejuvenate the tragedy-stricken state, where 52 were known dead.

Plans were afoot to convert Louisiana's antipoverty program into a war on Hurricane Betsy. A million dollars was earmarked to put the Youth Corps to work cleaning up the debris.

Sixty freight carloads of surplus foods were sent by the Department of Agriculture.

The flood tides and fierce winds of Hurricane Betsy inflicted the greatest destruction on Louisiana in the state's storm-scared history.

Coroner Nicholas Chetta, confessing "an embarrassing situation," told newsmen late Monday night that he had been misled by poor communications into preparing for several hundred dead from downriver Plaquemines Parish.

Chetta said he finally reached the isolated parish by telephone at 10 p.m. and only then could Plaquemines authorities tell him the true story: only 20 — not 200 to 250 — bodies would be sent to New Orleans today for the coronoer's care.

Chetta said he did not know how the rumors started about 200 to 250 deaths. "This was probably promulgated by an unofficial official," the official said. Chetta said the information was relayed to him by amateur radio operators.

"This is a good embarrassing situation," he said, but added "I'm very happy" the earlier high estimates did not materialize.

Ships, planes and divers searched a stretch of the Mississippi River at Baton Rouge, 85 miles upstream, for a sunken barge loaded with deadly chlorine.

The barge, with four tanks of the poisonous liquid welded to its hull, disappeared with scores of others when Betsy swept past Louisiana's capital city.

The cash damage toll from the destructive storm remains a matter of guesswork. Estimates range upward to a billion dollars.

S. B. Turman, head of Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., said shipping damage alone may give Betsy the dubious distinction of being classed as the worst maritime disaster in peacetime history.

The Red Cross raised its damage total to 1,029 homes destroyed, 26,352 with major damage, 133,115 with minor damage, 680 trailer homes destroyed, 1,-

India Reported Considering Halt To War With Pakistan

Soviet Plea Renewed To End Conflict

Brezhnev Calls On India, Pakistan To Arrange Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev today renewed the Soviet plea to India and Pakistan to end their undeclared war over Kashmir.

"I would like to express the hope that the Indian and Pakistani governments will understand it is not in their interest to further sharpen the conflict and will agree to end it with peaceful means," Brezhnev said.

In a speech at a friendship meeting with a Czech delegation headed by President Antonin Novotny, the Soviet Communist leader repeated the stand on the Kashmir war that the government here has been urging with greater emphasis. Tass issued a statement Monday urging an end to the conflict.

Unlike Red China, which has sided with Pakistan, the Kremlin is refusing to support either nation. It has joined other great powers in calling for an immediate cessation of hostilities.

Thant And World Powers Press For Stop To Fighting

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India declared today it had won its military objectives in two sectors of West Pakistan. Authoritative sources said Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was seriously considering a a cessation of hostilities.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Under strong international pressure, India is seriously considering calling a halt to its war with Pakistan, authoritative sources said today.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's government is feeling the pressure of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and world powers who want both sides to stop the fighting now and dicuss cease-fire terms later, the sources said.

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan reportedly told members of Shastri's parliamentary party that in any cessation of hostilities the armies would stay where they are now until details could be worked out.

According to these reports, Thant had been unsuccessful in earlier efforts to persuade each side to drop the conditions they were demanding for a cease-fire.

Both India and Pakistan were claiming victory in ground fighting termed by New Delhi as the heaviest in the war. It centered in the Sialkot area about 250 miles northwest of New Delhi, the Indian capital, and 150 miles southwest of Rawalpindi, the Pakistani capital. A major tank battle has been raging there.

Each side has rejected the other's conditions, it was reported, so Thant switched tactics and strove for a "cessation of hostilities." He was said to have told both nations the important thing was to stop the fighting before working out a formal cease-fire.

It was not known if Pakistan would agree to this formula, but observers said Thant had opened a way for both sides to end the bloodshed without losing face.

Thant's hand was apparently strengthened by support from Union.

The Soviet Union voiced alarm at the conflict and apthe United States and the Soviet pealed anew Monday for both sides to stop fighting before they touch off a world explosion.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the Soviet attitude has been "helpful so far." Indian officials have admitted privately that it would be hard to resist economic pressure from the United States and the Soviet Union for a cease-fire. Both India and Pakistan are highly dependent on U.S. aid, and many Indian in-

October Drive Slated

United Fund Sets Goal Of $115,000

A goal of $115,000 has been set for the East Liverpool Area United Fund's 1966 campaign, it was announced at a meeting of the board of directors Monday night.

This represents an increase over the $110,000 goal which was surpassed last year.

THE BOOST is due primarily to the addition of the Catholic Service Bureau, whose budget was set at $3,000, and a boost in the budget of the United Service Organization from $100 to $500, Richard Emmerling, president explained.

The latter was attributed to the expanded needs of the USO due to the Viet Nam fighting.

Richard Martin, new campaign director, was introduced to the group.

Martin announced that Stephen Cooper of St. Clair Ave., an insurance firm representative, will serve as publicity chairman for the drive, which will begin in October.

Martin outlined plans for the campaign and referred to the benefits from the United Fund for the community and the success of the contribution program in the last three years.

"The outlook of the area economy is pleasant," he declared, "and I see no reason why the goal should not be achieved and exceeded."

EMMERLING said plans call for a meeting of industrial and business leaders at the Vagabond Lodge on Route 30 Oct. 4 at which the payroll deduction and percentage - giving programs will be discussed.

Paul Herman of the budget committee reported on the quotas for the participating agencies for the new year. In addition to the two organization's mentioned earlier, the quotes are:

Boy Scouts $13,500; Camp Fire Girls $10,500; Salvation Army $11,500; Recreation Council $7,500; YMCA, $30,500; Red

'Right Man' Being Sought For Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, searching for the right man to head the new Department of Housing and Urban Development, is in the usual predicament of appointment-makers. He is bound to make somebody unhappy.

Example: Friends of Robert C. Weaver say he will be most disappointed if he does not get the position. So will a number of Negro organizations. If Weaver is picked, other hopefuls will feel let down.

Weaver, 57-year-old Negro, since 1961 has headed the Housing and Home Finance Agency, which will be absorbed in the new Cabinet department.

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy announced he would appoint Weaver to the new job if Congress created it. Congress refused to do so at that time. Of course the Kennedy commitment is not binding on Johnson.

Weaver is a long-time housing specialist and author, among other publications, of "The Negro Ghetto." The U.S. Conference of Mayors would like to see Johnson choose someone with broader experience in handling, not only housing, but other urban problems.

A hot, sub rosa argument is going on while Johnson conducts the search for the 11th face in his Cabinet.

Some backers of Weaver — though not Weaver himself — contend that a number of big city mayors are not too enthusiastic about moving Negroes out of "ghettos." They trace this alleged attitude to the view that many white voters do not want to see Negroes living next door.

These Weaver enthusiasts say that some mayors gave only lukewarm support, if any, to rent subsidy legislation, recently passed in compromise form. This measure could help some Negroes move out of ghettos to white areas.

If Johnson does not name Weaver, he is expected to find another high position for him. This would tend to allay any resentment among Negro organizations.

Although admiring his work, Negro leaders are not unanimous in backing him. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., has said he would prefer former Rep. Albert Rains, D-Ala. Rains was chairman of the House subcommittee on housing.

U.S. Expected To Continue Viet Buildup

Thousands More To Be Sent To Reach 125,00-Plus Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands more Army infantrymen are expected to be shipped to South Viet Nam in a continuing build-up beyond the 125,000-man troop level announced by President Johnson.

Defense sources indicated that the remainder of the 1st Infantry Division is likely to follow one of its brigades already in Viet Nam.

Dimensions of the additional build-up in Viet Nam are unclear. Final presidential decisions may still be pending.

However, knowledgeable sources said they look for a substantial increase in U. S. troop strength in Viet Nam.

An estimated 11,000 members of the 1st Infantry Division still are at Ft. Riley, Kan. There have been a number of indications they may be getting ready to move out.

Among other things, it is reported the Army will train a new division, probably an infantry outfit, at Ft. Riley. That post can accommodate only one division-size force at a time, sources said.

In addition to more infantrymen, it was indicated the Army probably will send combat support and logistics elements to Viet Nam. These, too, likely would be numbered in the thousands.

The bulk of new troop movements to Viet Nam probably will involve Army forces, sources said. The movements

U.S. B52s Blast Reds' Stronghold

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. B52 jet bombers blasted a suspected Viet Cong stronghold today in a raid about 20 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Bombs from the eight-engine Strategic Air Command planes saturated a target south of Ben Cat, a district town in Binh Duong Province, the spokesman said. It was the 23rd announced strike in the war by the Guam-based bombers.

Due to security rules, the spokesman did not disclose further details.

Also in Binh Duong Province, government troops bolstered by air support threw back an attack by a big Viet Cong force 20 miles northwest of Saigon, a spokesman said.

Government losses were light and Viet Cong casualties were not known, he said. An estimated two battalions of guerrillas, possibly more than 1,000 men, battled against one government battalion.

Five thousand troops of the U.S. Army's 1st Cavalry (airmobile) division came ashore, continuing the biggest troop landing of the war.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge greeted the troops when they landed. They were taken then by helicopters to bases in South Viet Nam's central highlands.

The troops, from Ft. Benning, Ga., have established a base camp at An Khe, 260 miles north of Saigon, U.S. authorities announced.

Several thousand of the battle-ready troops dug in around An Khe. They arrived Sunday at the coastal city of Qui Nhon, 35 miles to the east. A 700-man advance element has been at An Khe since mid-August making preparations.

About 5,000 troops — about a quarter of the division and its supporting elements — were airlifted to the camp Monday.

An Khe is also the site of a

Planners To Name Staff On Transportation Study

The City Planning Commission agreed tentatively Monday night to name a committee to assist in drafting recommendations for modernizing East Liverpool's transportation system as part of the current "master plan" study.

The commission, meeting in the Council chamber at City Hall, agreed the members will submit individual recommendations at the next meeting Oct. 11 as a prelude to the appointment of the committee.

Daniel Ziegler II, a representative of the planning firm, Carroll V. Hill & Associates, said the study group should be comprised of three main branches with representatives of a wide area extending into nearby sections of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

He said Liverpool, St. Clair and Yellow Creek Townships should be represented, as well as Wellsville and adjoining segments of Beaver and Hancock Counties.

He said the study group would be comprised of: 1. An advisory committee made up of residents of the entire area; 2. A technical coordinating committee, comprised principally of specialists such as engineers and architects, and 3. A public officials' advisory committee, comprised of mayors, township trustees, county officials and school representatives.

Don Eckert, chairman, and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey already have been designated to represent the commission in the transportation study.

Ziegler also reported final editing has been completed on the economic section of the "master plan" study, but the report has not been published. He said copies may be mailed within a week to members of the commission and the central business division committee.

Alvin T. Babb, chairman of the central business division committee, reported on a public meeting which is being arranged for Sept. 22 at Westgate School for presentation of recommendation for modernization of the shopping districts both downtown and in East End.

He said 460 invitations will be mailed today to interested business and professional men and property owners. But he emphasized anyone interested may

Presidential Welcome, Medals Given Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP) — With four boys clowning in the background, President Johnson welcomed to the capital today record-setting astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr.

Conrad's four boys, ranging in age from 4 to 10, grinned and fidgeted behind the presidential desk as Johnson presented the astronauts with the Exceptional Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The astronauts were honored for their eight - day Gemini 5 flight last month that set a record for manned orbits in space.

The medal presentation in the presidential office was the briefest yet for returned space heroes.

There was a third Exceptional Service Medal winner. Dr. Charles Berry, director of space medicine at the Manned Space Flight Center in Houston, was honored for contributions to space medicine.

Bridge Bids Awaited In Expressway Work

The Pennsylvania Highway Department will advertise for bids Thursday for construction of the superstructure of the Vanport Bridge phase of the Beaver Valley Expressway.

Bids also will include the interchanges on the Vanport side, connecting Route 68, and the Potter Township side, connecting Route 18.

Bids will be opened Oct. 8 at Harrisburg.

The substructure is now under construction.

The Vanport Bridge section is the first phase of the expressway, which ultimately will extend from Greater Pittsburgh Airport to Route 18, north of Beaver Falls.

Presidential Welcome, Medals Given Astronauts

Conrad's four boys, ranging in age from 4 to 10, grinned and fidgeted behind the presidential desk as Johnson presented the astronauts with the Exceptional Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The astronauts were honored for their eight - day Gemini 5 flight last month that set a record for manned orbits in space.

The medal presentation in the presidential office was the briefest yet for returned space heroes.

There was a third Exceptional Service Medal winner. Dr. Charles Berry, director of space medicine at the Manned Space Flight Center in Houston, was honored for contributions to space medicine.

Bridge Bids Awaited In Expressway Work

The Pennsylvania Highway Department will advertise for bids Thursday for construction of the superstructure of the Vanport Bridge phase of the Beaver Valley Expressway.

Bids also will include the interchanges on the Vanport side, connecting Route 68, and the Potter Township side, connecting Route 18.

Bids will be opened Oct. 8 at Harrisburg.

The substructure is now under construction.

The Vanport Bridge section is the first phase of the expressway, which ultimately will extend from Greater Pittsburgh Airport to Route 18, north of Beaver Falls.

New Research Facilities Announced For Crucible

PITTSBURGH — The Crucible Steel Co. has announced plans to consolidate product and process research and development at its laboratory facilities on the western outskirts of Pittsburgh.

To provide the additional facilities needed for this centralization, Crucible has signed a contract to add about 50,000 square feet to its present process laboratory.

"THIS EXPANSION will unify Crucible research and development activities now conducted in several locations," said Joel Hunter, president. "While the new space will take care of requirements for the forseeable future," he said, "the research center is designed to permit additional expansion."

Frederick C. Langenberg, director of technology, stressed several important advantages of this consolidation.

"Crucible now can further improve coordination and interchange of ideas between process and product research. Crucible scientists and metallurgists will have the working space they need, and unified support activities and services also will increase the efficiency of our R&D work," he said.

"Our present process laboratory includes, in miniature, all the facilities found in a steel plant to make flat rolled, bar and wire products," Dr. Langenberg reported. He pointed out that the center will add larger steelmaking equipment to simulate mill operations more closely.

THE NEW facilities were designed and engineered by Hunting, Larsen and Dunnells and will be built by the Landau Brothers Building Co., both Pittsburgh firms. When completed in 1966, they will include a two-story laboratory building clad in Crucible's own stainless steel, accented by tinted windows and enameled steel. Offices will share the first floor with the technical libarary and meeting rooms. The second floor will be occupied by laboratories for physical, chemical and metallurgical investigations. To the rear of this building, a one-story pilot plant addition will be constructed to supplement the original pilot plant. In design and architecture, it will match the present one.

Other facilities include a new connecting entry and visitors' reception lobby, two acres of paved parking area, a new access road, and utility additions.

Existing buildings, which house the process research facilities, cover 40,000 square feet and include a one-story stainless steel- and glass - sheathed office wing adjacent to a pilot process plant constructed of vertical panels made from Crucible stainless steel.

The Crucible Research and Development Center is located on a 37-acre site overlooking the intersection of the Penn Lincoln Parkway West and State Route 60 in Robinson Township, Allegheny County. It is approximately five miles from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport and 11 miles from downtown Pittsburgh.

Death Attributed To Heart Attack

The death of Mrs. Myrtle B. Brozka, 69, of 315 Campground Rd., Wellsville, injured in a two-car accident near Alliance Aug. 27, has been ruled caused by a heart attack.

Mrs. Brozka, who died Friday in Alliance City Hospital, had been injured when a car operated by her sister, Mrs. Della Caywood, 61, of 722 Bradshaw Ave., and one driven by Wilbert J. Turner, 45, of R.D. 2, Alliance, collided at the intersection of Routes 44 and 619.

Mrs. Caywood is in fair condition at the Alliance hospital. Turner was unhurt.

Dr. G. S. Shaheen, Stark County coroner, announced the ruling on Mrs. Brozka's death. She had received cuts of the arms, face and knees in the mishap.

Man Fined On Charge, Pays Parking Tickets

A city man who was fined for disorderly conduct also paid for 10 parking tickets during a hearing Monday before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville. Richard F. Koontz of the Travelers Hotel was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct.

He was cited early Sunday morning at 17th and Main Sts., Wellsville, while involved in a fight.

He was charged $10 for the first parking ticket and $2 each for the other nine.

Lung Cancer Fatal

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Richard Foster Jones, 79, scholar, author and teacher, died Sunday of lung cancer.

House Spins Through An Odd Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House completed one of the oddest sessions in its history early today after spinning its wheels through a record-smashing 22 roll calls without taking up a single bill.

It finally called it a day 12 hours and 31 minutes after its noon opening, making it the longest session since April 8, 1964.

What happened was that Republicans and some Southern Democrats tried to use the rule book to derail the Democratic express.

The result was a twisted parliamentary track, some steamy words and repeated cries of "Point of order, Mr. Chairman — a quorum isn't present."

With each roll call requiring about 25 minutes, much of Monday's sessions was devoted to the droning of names.

The previous record was 15 roll calls in one day in 1952.

Although not a single bill was passed, the big Democratic majority still delivered the freight, or at least some of it.

The House approved resolutions under the new 21-day rule to bypass the Rules Committee and bring up four bills later in the session.

The bills would raise the pay of federal employes, create a foundation on the arts and humanities, strengthen enforcement of the Equal Employment Opportunity Act and amend the Bank Holding Act.

When the witching hour came and went, however, the House decided to put aside three other similar resolutions and call it quits.

Heart of the coalition's objection was the way the resolutions had been brought to the floor in a block of seven.

It charged the procedure was an unfair slap at the Rules Committee, that it was an improper use of the 21-day rule — adopted to limit the Rules Committee's power to bottle up bills — and suggested it was mainly a fancy maneuver in the squabble over home rule for the nation's capital.

To drive home the objections, the coalition demanded that the journal of the previous meeting be read in full, rather than in the usual abbreviated form.

With most of the Republicans and Southerners making themselves scarce when points of no quorums were raised, the reading of the journal was interrupted so often it took more than six hours.

800 Bliss Employes Picket Canton Plant

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Employes of the E. W. Bliss Co. here picketed the plant Monday after walking off their jobs in a contract dispute.

No negotiations had been arranged, but Robert J. McCauley, district staff representative of the United Steelworkers, said he expected the Federal Mediation Service to aid in talks.

About 800 production employes of USW locals 4735 and 4396 walked out Sunday night and set up picket lines.

Employes have been working since Sept. 1 on an extension of a three-year contract. The last company offer made Friday included increased wages and fringe benefits.

CATV Plan Advanced By Council At Lisbon

LISBON — A wide selection of television stations soon may be at the fingertips of Lisbon residents for the asking.

Council Monday night took another step in that direction by unanimously passing on second reading an ordinance that would provide the establishment of a community television antenna service originally proposed nearly nine months.

THE PROPOSAL has been under study by Councilmen Fred Steele, Robert Kelm and Clyde Pike and Mayor Dean Stockman.

Columbiana CATV, Inc., proposes to erect a hilltop tower—a master television receiver antenna — capable of receiving 12 channels. The stations would be Steubenville, Wheeling, four in Pittsburgh, three in Youngstown and three in Cleveland.

The ordinance provides a nonexclusive franchise for 20 years. Columbiana CATV has requested a 20-year franchise since the installation is estimated to cost $150,000 and it will take several years for the company to recover its initial investment.

In exchange for the long-term agreement, the television concern would pay the village 3 per cent gross revenue from monthly fees. This amount would be due within 60 days after the end of each calendar year.

THE CABLE antenna service is owned by The East Liverpool Review and the Neptune Broadcasting Corp. of Steubenville.

Council approved a motion by Fred Steele, chairman of the police committee, to table discussion of a one - man police radar unit.

Steele said Police Chief Leon T. Zahrndt was attending a convention in Canton and would prefer to be present when Council was discussing the action. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting Sept. 27.

The legislators asked Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi to draw up an ordinance advertising for bids for a truck for the Board of Public Affairs.

Also discussed were problems involved in roughening the surface of Thomas Rd. hill, a steep and slippery incline.

Mayor Stockman said he and the street committee will meet Sept. 21 to attend the Board of Public Affairs meeting to discuss the condition of several other streets.

Hancock To Join In Planning Step

Hancock County commissioners Monday approved a court order calling for county participation in the establishment of a regional planning commission during a special session at the courthouse.

The commission will consist of Hancock County, Brooke County and the city of Weirton.

The order was approved with the provision, recommended by Floyd Tarr, prosecuting attorney, that Hancock County be permitted to withdraw if such action should be desired.

Jack Evans, commissioner, presided in the absence of James Finley, court president.

Woman Hurt By Auto Mishap In Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A city woman was injured and her husband was cited when their car struck a parked auto on E. North Ave. Monday shortly before noon.

Mrs. Donald Bishop of R. D. 1 was treated by a physician for lacerations of the head.

Police said Bishop, 35, lost control of his 1953 sedan, which struck a parked 1956 sedan owned by Emil Jurjavcic of 288 Park Ave. There was about $100 damage to the front of each auto.

Bishop was charged with reckless operation.

She's Charged With 2 Murders

Girl, 16, Followed Killer Because 'I Loved Him'

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Dixie Radcliff says she followed her boy friend, an admitted killer of four, because "I loved him too much to leave him."

Miss Radcliff, daughter of an Amesville, Ohio, minister, said she couldn't bear to watch as the men were killed.

Authorities released Monday the girl's statement on how two New Hampshire men who befriended her and Donald Melvin Boggs were slain.

She said Robert Willis, 23, and Halvor Johnson, 28, both of Newport, N.H., gave them a lift in their car after she and Boggs abandoned a pickup in Oklahoma.

The girl, who was charged with murder Monday in the two deaths, disclosed the beating of a man in Ohio and the theft of two cars before the fatal beating of H. N. Flory, of San Antonio, Tex., which authorities say Boggs has admitted.

Flory's body was discovered in the San Marcos River in Texas. Officers said Boggs also had admitted the slaying in Utah of Warren Lenker, a Brigham Young University student from Elizabethville, Pa.

The Radcliff girl was remanded to Superior Court Monday after a hearing in juvenile court. Two murder charges were filed against her after the hearing.

Judge Laurance T. Wren ordered her to face the charges as an adult after conferring with county psychiatric social workers and studying Miss Radcliff's statement.

Boggs, of Londonderry, Ohio, was to have been arraigned Monday but Wren postponed it after appointing J. Thomas Brooks as Boggs' counsel.

The girl's father is the Rev. Pearl Radcliff.

Tells Of Planned U.N. Visit

Pope Opens Last Session Of Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI today opened the Vatican Ecumenical Council's final session, telling the Roman Catholic bishops he is going to the United Nations in New York to plead for peace "which in these days is being wounded and is bleeding."

The pontiff spoke at a ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica before nearly 2,500 of his bishops gathered from around the world for the fourth and concluding council session.

"May peace among men triumph — that peace, which in these days is being wounded and is bleeding between peoples so sorely in need of peace," said the Pope.

He said he was going before the U.N. General Assembly on Oct. 4 "to bring with respectful homage to the representatives of the nations assembled there a message of peace."

As for the council itself, where conservative and progressive prelates are expected to clash over major topics like religious liberty and modern world problems, the Pope said:

"We have not touched (in the speech) on any of the themes which will be submitted to the examination of this assembly.

"Our silence has been deliberate. It is to be interpreted as a sign of our unwillingness to compromise, by any words of ours, your freedom of opinion with regard to the matters to be presented to you."

The Pope also announced the establishment of a special synod of bishops which he will convene for consultation and collaboration when he sees fit.

Pope Paul said the episcopal synod would be composed largely of bishops from the various episcopal conferences around the world.

The pontiff said the special synod, or senate of worldwide bishops, would "be of use in the day-to-day work of the Roman Curia."

Pope Paul and the 26 prelates with him entered on foot. The portable throne was not used for the pontiff.

In the basilica were diplomats accredited to the Vatican, more than 50 observers from other Christian churches and more than 30 Roman Catholic priests, nuns and laymen officially named as council observers.

CATV Plan Advanced By Council At Lisbon

LISBON — A wide selection of television stations soon may be at the fingertips of Lisbon residents for the asking.

Council Monday night took another step in that direction by unanimously passing on second reading an ordinance that would provide the establishment of a community television antenna service originally proposed nearly nine months.

THE PROPOSAL has been under study by Councilmen Fred Steele, Robert Kelm and Clyde Pike and Mayor Dean Stockman.

Columbiana CATV, Inc., proposes to erect a hilltop tower—a master television receiver antenna — capable of receiving 12 channels. The stations would be Steubenville, Wheeling, four in Pittsburgh, three in Youngstown and three in Cleveland.

The ordinance provides a non-exclusive franchise for 20 years. Columbiana CATV has requested a 20-year franchise since the installation is estimated to cost $150,000 and it will take several years for the company to recover its initial investment.

In exchange for the long-term agreement, the television concern would pay the village 3 per cent gross revenue from monthly fees. This amount would be due within 60 days after the end of each calendar year.

THE CABLE antenna service is owned by The East Liverpool Review and the Neptune Broadcasting Corp. of Steubenville.

Council approved a motion by Fred Steele, chairman of the police committee, to table discussion of a one - man police radar unit.

Steele said Police Chief Leon T. Zahrndt was attending a convention in Canton and would prefer to be present when Council was discussing the action. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting Sept. 27.

The legislators asked Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi to draw up an ordinance advertising for bids for a truck for the Board of Public Affairs.

Also discussed were problems involved in roughening the surface of Thomas Rd. hill, a steep and slippery incline.

Mayor Stockman said he and the street committee will meet Sept. 21 to attend the Board of Public Affairs meeting to discuss the condition of several other streets.

Hancock To Join In Planning Step

Hancock County commissioners Monday approved a court order calling for county participation in the establishment of a regional planning commission during a special session at the courthouse.

The commission will consist of Hancock County, Brooke County and the city of Weirton.

The order was approved with the provision, recommended by Floyd Tarr, prosecuting attorney, that Hancock County be permitted to withdraw if such action should be desired.

Jack Evans, commissioner, presided in the absence of James Finley, court president.

Woman Hurt By Auto Mishap In Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A city woman was injured and her husband was cited when their car struck a parked auto on E. North Ave. Monday shortly before noon.

Mrs. Donald Bishop of R. D. 1 was treated by a physician for lacerations of the head.

Police said Bishop, 35, lost control of his 1953 sedan, which struck a parked 1956 sedan owned by Emil Jurjavcic of 288 Park Ave. There was about $100 damage to the front of each auto.

Bishop was charged with reckless operation.

Girl, 16, Followed Killer Because 'I Loved Him'

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Dixie Radcliff says she followed her boy friend, an admitted killer of four, because "I loved him too much to leave him."

Miss Radcliff, daughter of an Amesville, Ohio, minister, said she couldn't bear to watch as the men were killed.

Authorities released Monday the girl's statement on how two New Hampshire men who befriended her and Donald Melvin Boggs were slain.

She said Robert Willis, 23, and Halvor Johnson, 28, both of Newport, N.H., gave them a lift in their car after she and Boggs abandoned a pickup in Oklahoma.

The girl, who was charged with murder Monday in the two deaths, disclosed the beating of a man in Ohio and the theft of two cars before the fatal beating of H. N. Flory, of San Antonio, Tex., which authorities say Boggs has admitted.

Flory's body was discovered in the San Marcos River in Texas. Officers said Boggs also had admitted the slaying in Utah of Warren Lenker, a Brigham Young University student from Elizabethville, Pa.

The Radcliff girl was remanded to Superior Court Monday after a hearing in juvenile court. Two murder charges were filed against her after the hearing.

Judge Laurance T. Wren ordered her to face the charges as an adult after conferring with county psychiatric social workers and studying Miss Radcliff's statement.

Boggs, of Londonderry, Ohio, was to have been arraigned Monday but Wren postponed it after appointing J. Thomas Brooks as Boggs' counsel.

The girl's father is the Rev. Pearl Radcliff.

Pope Opens Last Session Of Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI today opened the Vatican Ecumenical Council's final session, telling the Roman Catholic bishops he is going to the United Nations in New York to plead for peace "which in these days is being wounded and is bleeding."

The pontiff spoke at a ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica before nearly 2,500 of his bishops gathered from around the world for the fourth and concluding council session.

"May peace among men triumph — that peace, which in these days is being wounded and is bleeding between peoples so sorely in need of peace," said the Pope.

He said he was going before the U.N. General Assembly on Oct. 4 "to bring with respectful homage to the representatives of the nations assembled there a message of peace."

As for the council itself, where conservative and progressive prelates are expected to clash over major topics like religious liberty and modern world problems, the Pope said:

"We have not touched (in the speech) on any of the themes which will be submitted to the examination of this assembly.

"Our silence has been deliberate. It is to be interpreted as a sign of our unwillingness to compromise, by any words of ours, your freedom of opinion with regard to the matters to be presented to you."

The Pope also announced the establishment of a special synod of bishops which he will convene for consultation and collaboration when he sees fit.

If The War Drags On

Under varying names and in varying ways, the American people are being told to expect no quick results in Southeast Asia.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is latest to give this counsel.

Mr. Nixon is keeping his hand in as a presidential possibility. He has been traveling in Southeast Asia in connection with business interests.

His travels also have been pursuant to his interest as one of a number of voices stating the Republican position on war in Viet Nam.

The position he favors is that the United States should wear down the opposition to a point of desperation at which surrender terms will be sought.

There must be no premature negotiations, warn all those who hold this same view. The war must be fought relentlessly. No quarter must be asked or given.

Complete and total destruction of the enemy must be the U.S. goal. The fixed purpose must be the utter defeat of the Viet Cong and its sponsors.

There should be no thought of stopping the war until the opposition has been crushed, say the spokesmen for this position.

This kind of military attrition will take patience. The American people must have no dreams of getting off easy. They must brace themselves for prolonged and heavy fighting, with many casualties and massive costs.

The Republican position, assuming Mr. Nixon is voicing it with some authority, is the same as the position of many Republicans when it became plain that the Korean War would drag on for years.

But other Republicans, including the party's leaders in the 1952 campaign, thought the war in Korea had dragged on long enough. Dwight D. Eisenhower's last-minute campaign pledge to go to Korea if elected, to try to bring the war to an end, was held to be important in his landslide victory over the party in power—the "war party."

It remains to be seen how long the American people's patience will last if the war in Viet Nam drags on indefinitely.

Percentages

We dread "collegiate distortion."

It happens when people identified, often incorrectly, as college students make news with wild antics. It happens when they stage riots, put on disobedience demonstrations, or go berserk.

Whereupon the public thinks of their behavior as typical and colleges and college students get a black eye.

As in all forms of juvenile misbehavior, only a tiny fraction of college students ever do anything but grind out the best education they can give themselves. They have no time for anything else.

Because they never make news, no one ever hears of the typical college students who are now and always have been the best hope of this ever-more-complex society.

But the real students soon will be hard at work on college campuses, preparing themselves for lives of usefulness—and for them the rioters, demonstrators, showoffs, beatniks and academic imposters will be as offensive as they have made themselves recently to the rest of us.

Bliss Looks To The Negro Vote

The most meaningful step taken by Ray C. Bliss as chairman of the Republican National Committee is his request to Negro Republicans to tell him how to enlist Negroes in the party.

The support of this key minority of Northern voters who hold the balance of power in all large cities has been let go by default.

Republican politicians have given up hope of wooing Negroes into the party fold. The party lost their traditional allegiance during the depression years. Since then it has been reminding Negroes in vain that they still owe their emanicipation to Abraham Lincoln.

Negroes have not been concerned about Abraham Lincoln in recent years. They have not been deeply impressed by the excellent pro-Negro records of many current Republican politicians.

When reminded of the debt of gratitude they owe to the Republican party for assistance in the past, they ask what the party has done for them lately.

WITH THE MOST remarkable ease, they separate Northern Democrats who cultivate Negro votes in large cities from Southern Democrats who are still fighting a rear-guard action in the Civil War.

This is the problem Negro Republicans have been asked to help Chairman Bliss solve.

A possible solution is touched on in a Republican Coordinating Committee's statement on human rights.

A task force headed by Ohio Rep. William M. McCulloch has pointed out that the Negroes' struggle for equality of opportunity and responsibility now has passed out of the federal legislation phase into a new phase of state, local and private action.

This is where Republican leadership could be asserted in a meaningful way.

This is where it could be demonstrated 100 years after the Civil War that Negroes still need to look to Republicans for definitive action in their behalf.

CHAIRMAN BLISS knows some Republican leadership has given up hope of winning Negro votes.

He knows the Negro balance of power in the large cities has been held by the Democratic party so long it has become part of the conventional wisdom of party politics — something beyond question.

But it must be assumed this knowledgeable man also knows something else.

From the Civil War to the Great Depression, Democratic politicians despaired of winning Negro votes. Then things were different. The balance of power shifted.

Chairman Bliss is taking a long-range view of the party system.

Things will be different again some day. Surely, the party that once begged in vain for Negro votes does not have them tied up forever.

Foster Children

By Truman Twill

Alma Mater needs money.

She tells me so.

It embarrasses me. I need money, too.

No one puts on a drive to help me get it.

I don't know how to get money myself, never have.

That's why it's embarrassing to be solicited.

If I had money, I'd give a tubful to Alma Mater.

I've thought about how thrilling it would be to call in the prexy of Alma Mater and say, "I've decided to give the old school an endowment."

He would fall to his knees, kiss my hand and give me a knighthood. Well, anyway, a trusteeship.

IT WON'T happen.

I am never going to have endowment-size money.

The thrill of being a philanthropist is beyond my means.

But something was pointed out recently that puts my poverty in a more tolerable light, as far as Alma Mater is concerned.

I never realized before that if a loyal son of Alma Mater gave $100 a year in cash the effect would be the same as if the college were collecting 5 per cent interest on a $2,000 principle.

Keeping the figures in proportions suitable for non-philanthropists, I point out further that anyone who gave $500 a year would be giving the equivalent of 5 per cent on $10,000.

If you want to make the jump to more digits, $2,500 a year would be 5 per cent on $50,000.

If you come back in the other direction, $5 would be 5 per cent on $100. Alma Mater wouldn't sniff at that, either.

PHILANTHROPISTS and legislators will take care of big private schools and state universities.

The rest of us, the volunteers, will have to take care of Alma Mater.

There's always a chance we may strike oil and be big contributors.

But the odds are against it.

Most of us will have to make do with what we have.

We can't make headlines with our gifts.

They won't name anything after us.

But we can come to terms on one fact of financial life.

We can sign up for what we can afford and think of our annual gift as the interest on an endowment we cannot afford.

We can't give a tubful, but we can be generous with teaspoons — and it amounts to the same thing as long as we keep giving it.

ALMA MATER will be as grateful as though we had struck oil and gushered dollar signs all over the place — well, almost as grateful.

She won't name a building for us, but she will give us her gratitude.

And we will have had the satisfaction of knowing we paid back a part of the unpaid balance due for those sweet days when we were Alma Mater's foster children.

Left-Wing Unions Still Fly High

By Victor Riesel

A few days before the astronauts blasted off to knock the Soviet Cosmonauts' record out of the heavens, some difficulties developed over 17 key communications channels. These lines and their intricate electronic brains had to be in operation to prepare for Gemini 5's stint aloft.

Victor Riesel

But for a short while they were not in full operation. Anti-automation strike action at an RCA vortex in New York City was slowing the lines. This worried the wizards of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. However the controversy ended quickly, after some court action, less than a week before the scheduled blast off.

Few seemed to know much about the union whose members had refused to handle these complex cables. Also involved was a section which was part of the Washington - Moscow hot line. Affected too were swift communication links between the U.S. and 100 nations via Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

THIS SEEMED odd. So a government chap queried this reporter, though not in any great hurry, since no harm was done except to the nerves of some NASA people.

The union turned out to be the independent American Communications Association (ACA). Discovering it in full operation, with contracts covering strategic services across the world, almost convinced us that the Mesozoic age did not die 50,000 years ago and that pterodactyls were still flying high.

The "ACA" is one of 11 unions ousted from the labor movement in the 1949-1950 era on the urging of labor lawyer Arthur Goldberg, now better known as an ambassador.

It was startling to find the "ACA" fully and legitimately active under the leadership of the same Joe Selly, who headed it when it was booted by labor leaders for paralleling the Soviet propaganda line.

Since then it has rarely broken into the news. Its anti-automation strike action early in August, aimed at a data computor, was routine labor practice in a dispute over introduction of automatic equipment.

THE INCIDENT proved one thing: the pterodactyls still are alive. The pre-historic left wing unions are still with us — not only "ACA" but some of the other organizations which had been tried by juries of their labor peers at the instigation of "prosecutor" Goldberg.

Further inquiry disclosed that the "ACA's" old brethren in the United Electrical Workers Union (UE) still were flourishing in the old mansion built by the Vanderbilts in Manhattan during the Mauve Decade — a color far less political then.

Indeed, the "UE" not only is with us, but aggressively too. In the last 90 days, under the direction of its veteran strategist James Matles, it has distributed leaflets at many General Electric Co. plants.

Jim Matles, now general secretary - treasurer, is a big man in the archives of several federal security agencies. There are those who have sworn under oath that he was a Communist. There even have been efforts to deport this veteran of the left wing labor wars circa the mid-'30s.

THE "UE" began its assault on GE earlier this season. Matles has warned a GE vice president that he (Matles) is keeping his eye on him. "UE" is preparing to make a noise at GE next year when "UE's" contract with five or six big GE plants reopens for wage bargaining.

The "UE" wants wide open talks on pensions and other matters barred under the contract from reopening until 1968.

Meanwhile, the 55,000-member "UE" has been wooing the big International Union of Electrical Workers, now headed by the new breed "young" man of labor, Paul Jennings. Merger is what old Jim Matles wants. But, says Jennings, "There will be no marriage, no wedding, no courtship." A little redundant for emphasis.

BUT JENNINGS is not resting on that. He and his colleagues have flashed word to the ranks to declare war on the "UE" and drive it out of the plants and back into the Mesozoic age.

There are other independent unions in the flock of pterodactyls still flying high. Harry Bridges' well-placed West Coast longshoremen's union, which is feeling no political pain and is so powerful in Hawaii, and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union with locals in vital pits, plants and uranium processing installations.

Some of the mine leaders have been inconvenienced by convictions in the federal courts on charges of conspiring to defraud the U.S. by filing false non - Communist affidavits. They're appealing to the Supreme Court.

Obviously each of these unions, each in its own territory, apparently isolated from each other, is not as pre-historic these days as many do believe.

Asian Strategy

By David Lawrence

It's Time For Countermoves

Red China is really the aggressor in the new war in Asia. The Peiping government took advantage of the longtime hostility between India and Pakistan to pour fuel on the smoldering flames and precipitate a new conflict. Apparently, the Red Chinese at last became convinced that American troops would stay in Southeast Asia indefinitely. This made a countermove plausible, on the theory that America would continue to have its hands full in Viet Nam and would not intervene between India and Pakistan.

David Lawrence

Meanwhile, the Red Chinese, in aiding Pakistan, are counting on the latter's Moslem following inside India to stir up friction there.

It is basically a struggle for domination of the Asian continent. Red China today has on its border with India at least 100,000 troops which could eventually get into the war.

But it will be argued that neither India, nor Pakistan, nor Red China has the military potential to carry on a major war very long.

The objective of the Peiping strategists at present is to gain as many concessions as possible for Pakistan and weaken the position of India in southern Asia.

ONE THING the Red Chinese may not have appraised correctly is the leverage the United States can apply through Nationalist China.

The Formosa government would like nothing better than to be given the go-ahead for an attack on the mainland, in view of the Nationalists' belief that the populace there would welcome a chance to rise up against the Communist government in Peiping.

The Red Chinese may have taken this into account and will be careful not to involve themselves too heavily in Pakistan. They could be content with a partial victory.

Concessions to Pakistan would be expected from India in a peace negotiation attained either through the United Nations or some other diplomatic apparatus.

The end result could be an increase in the prestige of Red China.

Escalation into a larger war is always possible, but it seems unlikely in view of the hazards the Red Chinese face.

It is significant that the Soviet government already has been calling for peace talks between India and Pakistan. Nobody wants a major conflict in Asia, least of all the Red Chinese, who figure they can make more headway and exert a bigger influence on the course of events in Asia by the infiltrating process, which long has been responsible for trouble inside India.

SO FAR AS America is concerned, the immediate problem is how the India - Pakistan war is going to affect Viet Nam.

The Red Chinese are today the chief source of supply for the North Viet Nam government. If Peiping becomes preoccupied with the India-Pakistan war, there will be less munitions and supplies available for Communists in Viet Nam.

As for manpower, the Red Chinese can send in plenty of ground forces, but against American equipment, especially in the air, the Peiping government could find it difficult to keep the North Vietnamese position from deteriorating.

This is why a firm policy by the Johnson administration is even more necessary now than before. Indeed, the time may have come for the United States to begin countermoves in Asia for protection of that continent against Red China's mischief-making.

Japan and Korea, as well as Australia and the Philippines, have a direct interest in what happens on the Asian continent. A defensive alliance would be logical.

It is also a time to take a second look at the foreign-aid program as it affects Asian countries and to consider a policy designed to increase military aid to allies while withholding neutral country on the Asian mainland.

It is the Red Chinese game to instigate as many local conflicts as possible, in the hope infiltrators can take over governments weakened through Communist penetration.

It's The Cat's Meow

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — There is a lot of nonsense abroad about cats.

For example, when you get a cat for the first time, all your friends who are cat lovers, warn you sagely, "Cats are a lot different from dogs. You can train a dog, but you can't train a cat."

This is ridiculous. Any domestic animal can be trained. The difference is only one of degree.

With dogs you simply decide what you want them to do, and then teach them to do it. With cats you work the other way. You find out what they want to do, and then don't bother trying to teach them anything else. The system is infallible.

As a result of applying this theory, I feel that the cat in our house, Lady Dottie, is perfectly trained.

At first I made the mistake of trying to train Lady Dottie as if she were a dog. For one thing I set out to teach her to stay out of the way.

What I failed to realize was that she didn't want to stay out of the way; the social needs of her nature required just the opposite — that she get in the way of people. It was her way of stressing her importance.

By capitalizing on this rudimentary discovery, I have successfully trained Lady Dottie so that she is now in the way at all times.

If I want to sit on the sofa, she is there. If I want to sit in the only decent easy chair that has a reading lamp by it, she is there. If I want to go to bed, she has beat me to it. If I want to go to the bathroom — well, why should I admit that I am the only man in our neighborhood who has to share his bathroom with a cat?

Friends who visit us sometimes say, "How ever do you put up with Lady Dottie? She's always in the way."

They just fail to realize what a thorough job of training I have done on her.

Teaching Lady Dottie to talk was, I admit, a lot of trouble.

"Can you say meow?" I asked her at least 10,000 times without result. Well, of course, she could — but she just didn't want to.

Finally, the reason dawned on me. Lady Dottie is a modest cat, and doesn't like to use the personal pronoun which starts the word meow.

"Can you say ow?" I asked her.

"Ow, ow, ow, ow, ow, ow," she replied eagerly. Now when I am alone she spends most of her time proudly repeating her single - syllabled vocabulary: "Ow, ow, ow, ow."

But if a visitor comes in and I inquire, "Lady Dottie, can you say ow?", she clams up. She looks at me as if I were an idiot.

As soon as the visitor leaves, Lady Dottie comes over, rubs against my legs, and starts talking her head off: "Ow, ow, ow, ow, ow, ow."

Cats, like children, show off only when they choose. But, also like children, cats can be trained to do anything they want to — if you only approach the problem with love and patience.

If The War Drags On

Under varying names and in varying ways, the American people are being told to expect no quick results in Southeast Asia.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is latest to give this counsel.

Mr. Nixon is keeping his hand in as a presidential possibility. He has been traveling in Southeast Asia in connection with business interests.

His travels also have been pursuant to his interest as one of a number of voices stating the Republican position on war in Viet Nam.

The position he favors is that the United States should wear down the opposition to a point of desperation at which surrender terms will be sought.

There must be no premature negotiations, warn all those who hold this same view. The war must be fought relentlessly. No quarter must be asked or given.

Complete and total destruction of the enemy must be the U.S. goal. The fixed purpose must be the utter defeat of the Viet Cong and its sponsors.

There should be no thought of stopping the war until the opposition has been crushed, say the spokesmen for this position.

This kind of military attrition will take patience. The American people must have no dreams of getting off easy. They must brace themselves for prolonged and heavy fighting, with many casualties and massive costs.

The Republican position, assuming Mr. Nixon is voicing it with some authority, is the same as the position of many Republicans when it became plain that the Korean War would drag on for years.

But other Republicans, including the party's leaders in the 1952 campaign, thought the war in Korea had dragged on long enough. Dwight D. Eisenhower's last-minute campaign pledge to go to Korea if elected, to try to bring the war to an end, was held to be important in his landslide victory over the party in power—the "war party."

It remains to be seen how long the American people's patience will last if the war in Viet Nam drags on indefinitely.

We dread "collegiate distortion."

It happens when people identified, often incorrectly, as college students make news with wild antics. It happens when they stage riots, put on disobedience demonstrations, or go berserk.

Whereupon the public thinks of their behavior as typical and colleges and college students get a black eye.

As in all forms of juvenile misbehavior, only a tiny fraction of college students ever do anything but grind out the best education they can give themselves. They have no time for anything else.

Because they never make news, no one ever hears of the typical college students who are now and always have been the best hope of this ever-more-complex society.

But the real students soon will be hard at work on college campuses, preparing themselves for lives of usefulness—and for them the rioters, demonstrators, showoffs, beatniks and academic imposters will be as offensive as they have made themselves recently to the rest of us.

Bliss Looks To The Negro Vote

The most meaningful step taken by Ray C. Bliss as chairman of the Republican National Committee is his request to Negro Republicans to tell him how to enlist Negroes in the party.

The support of this key minority of Northern voters who hold the balance of power in all large cities has been let go by default.

Republican politicians have given up hope of wooing Negroes into the party fold. The party lost their traditional allegiance during the depression years. Since then it has been reminding Negroes in vain that they still owe their emanicipation to Abraham Lincoln.

Negroes have not been concerned about Abraham Lincoln in recent years. They have not been deeply impressed by the excellent pro-Negro records of many current Republican politicians.

When reminded of the debt of gratitude they owe to the Republican party for assistance in the past, they ask what the party has done for them lately.

WITH THE MOST remarkable ease, they separate Northern Democrats who cultivate Negro votes in large cities from Southern Democrats who are still fighting a rear-guard action in the Civil War.

This is the problem Negro Republicans have been asked to help Chairman Bliss solve.

A possible solution is touched on in a Republican Coordinating Committee's statement on human rights.

A task force headed by Ohio Rep. William M. McCulloch has pointed out that the Negroes' struggle for equality of opportunity and responsibility now has passed out of the federal legislation phase into a new phase of state, local and private action.

This is where Republican leadership could be asserted in a meaningful way.

This is where it could be demonstrated 100 years after the Civil War that Negroes still need to look to Republicans for definitive action in their behalf.

CHAIRMAN BLISS knows some Republican leadership has given up hope of winning Negro votes.

He knows the Negro balance of power in the large cities has been held by the Democratic party so long it has become part of the conventional wisdom of party politics — something beyond question.

But it must be assumed this knowledgeable man also knows something else.

From the Civil War to the Great Depression, Democratic politicians despaired of winning Negro votes. Then things were different. The balance of power shifted.

Chairman Bliss is taking a long-range view of the party system.

Things will be different again some day. Surely, the party that once begged in vain for Negro votes does not have them tied up forever.

Foster Children

By Truman Twill

Alma Mater needs money.

She tells me so.

It embarrasses me. I need money, too.

No one puts on a drive to help me get it.

I don't know how to get money myself, never have.

That's why it's embarrassing to be solicited.

If I had money, I'd give a tubful to Alma Mater.

I've thought about how thrilling it would be to call in the prexy of Alma Mater and say, "I've decided to give the old school an endowment."

He would fall to his knees, kiss my hand and give me a knighthood. Well, anyway, a trusteeship.

IT WON'T happen.

I am never going to have endowment-size money.

The thrill of being a philanthropist is beyond my means.

But something was pointed out recently that puts my poverty in a more tolerable light, as far as Alma Mater is concerned.

I never realized before that if a loyal son of Alma Mater gave $100 a year in cash the effect would be the same as if the college were collecting 5 per cent interest on a $2,000 principle.

Keeping the figures in proportions suitable for non-philanthropists, I point out further that anyone who gave $500 a year would be giving the equivalent of 5 per cent on $10,000.

If you want to make the jump to more digits, $2,500 a year would be 5 per cent on $50,000.

If you come back in the other direction, $5 would be 5 per cent on $100. Alma Mater wouldn't sniff at that, either.

PHILANTHROPISTS and legislators will take care of big private schools and state universities.

The rest of us, the volunteers, will have to take care of Alma Mater.

There's always a chance we may strike oil and be big contributors.

But the odds are against it.

Most of us will have to make do with what we have.

We can't make headlines with our gifts.

They won't name anything after us.

But we can come to terms on one fact of financial life.

We can sign up for what we can afford and think of our annual gift as the interest on an endowment we cannot afford.

We can't give a tubful, but we can be generous with teaspoons — and it amounts to the same thing as long as we keep giving it.

ALMA MATER will be as grateful as though we had struck oil and gushered dollar signs all over the place — well, almost as grateful.

She won't name a building for us, but she will give us her gratitude.

And we will have had the satisfaction of knowing we paid back a part of the unpaid balance due for those sweet days when we were Alma Mater's foster children.

Left-Wing Unions Still Fly High

By Victor Riesel

A few days before the astronauts blasted off to knock the Soviet Cosmonauts' record out of the heavens, some difficulties developed over 17 key communications channels. These lines and their intricate electronic brains had to be in operation to prepare for Gemini 5's stint aloft.

Victor Riesel

But for a short while they were not in full operation. Anti-automation strike action at an RCA vortex in New York City was slowing the lines. This worried the wizards of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. However the controversy ended quickly, after some court action, less than a week before the scheduled blast off.

Few seemed to know much about the union whose members had refused to handle these complex cables. Also involved was a section which was part of the Washington - Moscow hot line. Affected too were swift communication links between the U.S. and 100 nations via Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

THIS SEEMED odd. So a government chap queried this reporter, though not in any great hurry, since no harm was done except to the nerves of some NASA people.

The union turned out to be the independent American Communications Association (ACA). Discovering it in full operation, with contracts covering strategic services across the world, almost convinced us that the Mesozoic age did not die 50,000 years ago and that pterodactyls were still flying high.

Quints' Birthday

Party To Be Private In Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — A traveler driving into Aberdeen from the east sees a big billboard that reads:

"Welcome to Aberdeen, home of—"

Not until he gets near the billboard can he see the rest of it: "—Fischer 'quints'."

A lush field of corn blocks out this reference to Aberdeen's five most famous inhabitants, who reached their second birthday today.

The quint-eclipsing corn is an odd but apt symbol of the kind of adjustment this northeastern South Dakota city of 25,000 has made to the Fischers.

Aberdeen became a famous town the morning that James Andrew, Mary Margaret, Mary Magdalene, Mary Catherine and Mary Ann were born to Andrew J. Fischer, then a $76-a-week shipping clerk, and his wife, Mary Ann. St. Luke's, the red brick hospital that kept the youngsters alive in their first critical days, became the eye of a hurricane of scrambling newsmen.

There were those in Aberdeen, as there would be in any town, who saw fortune along with fame — an eager world beating a lucrative path to the quints' door.

But today, as the quints turn a healthy, happy and normal-as-possible 2, there is no path, and no door.

Further, today's birthday party will be a private one, behind the doors of the 17-room, $100,000 ranch home a mile southwest of Aberdeen which the quints made possible.

A year ago Aberdeen folks — most of whom have not to this day seen the quints — might have wished for a public whoop-up. Today Aberdeen is resigned to, adjusted to, or sympathetic to — depending on who is doing the talking — the wall of privacy behind which the Fischers have retreated.

Whatever there may have been of early dreams of easy tourist dollars, lured to Aberdeen by the quints, have vanished. If the quints have made even a small bulge in the Aberdeen economy, it is not apparent to the casual visitor.

The four girls and their brother have never been put on public display. Mrs. Fischer occasionally takes them along when she does an errand downtown, but it's a rare sight, and they stay in the car.

"I saw them once," bubbled a girl drug store clerk. "Mrs. Fischer was just pulling away from the curb, and I almost hit her. They were all in the car."

A tourist who wants to get as close as he can — and several do — can take a paved highway half a mile south of Aberdeen, and turn west on a gravel road. The two-story, red and cream Fischer home is easy to spot because no South Dakota farmer would build one that big.

Not far off the highway, it is surrounded by wire fencing and bristles with "Private property — No trespassing" signs. If sightseers don't get the point, there are signs on the road which read, "No parking on highway."

Weekend traffic is sometimes heavy on Fischer Road, but is possible to make the trip without encountering another car — or any sign of life in the house.

"What the hell, Aberdeen doesn't own 'em," growled a local resident over his coffee. "They just happened to be born here."

While there are those who vaguely feel the community has somehow been shorn of its greatest glory, or is being held unnecessarily at arm's length, thoughtful residents tend to side with the coffee-drinker. They concede the development is logical, and best for the children, if not calculated to give the local economy a shot in the arm.

If the quints could draw tourists like another famed South Dakota attraction, Mt. Rushmore, without becoming exploited in the process, it would be a good thing for the town, said one businessman. Like others willing to talk about it, he did not want his name used.

"But how would you do that without turning them into inhabitants of a zoo?" he asked, shrugging.

Too, there is the question of the quints' earning power — which has brought their parents and six brothers and sisters from a ramshackle pre-quint farm home on Aberdeen's outskirts to their present estate, and is putting lots of money in the bank for the quints' future.

That kind of money comes from exclusivity, from carefully rationed glimpses the world gets of the quints via certain magazines and advertising media. These contracts were signed after intensely competitive bidding not long after the quints' birth. If humane considerations for the babies didn't keep a curious world at arm's length, business considerations would.

Educated estimates of the Fischers' annual income from these sources range up to $250,000. Under court jurisdiction, the bulk of it is put in trust for the quints and their brothers and sisters.

Local Growers Given Awards At Cleveland Show

Leo C. Lawrence finished as runnerup in the open division of the Cleveland dahlia show, which opened Monday, receiving 8 special awards, 14 firsts and 6 seconds out of 35 entries.

Nine members of the East Liverpool Dahlia & Floral Society attended the show yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Green received a special, first and second from seven entries.

"Croyden's Renown", an informal lavender pink dahlia entered by Lawrence, won five awards, including the Cleveland Press trophy as the grand champion of the show. It also was named the best single entry in the show and the largest and most perfect bloom.

"Poetic," a new introduction this year, and "Encinadas" received awards as the best entries in their divisions.

Lawrence served as judge in the large amateur division. Other judges from the local club were J. T. Eccleston, William Craine, W. M. Crawford, William Haugh and Mrs. Dorothy Koontz with Mrs. Anna Patterson, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Green serving as show secretaries.

Pair Constructs Caskets For Pets

PARMA, Mich. (AP) — Fido may lead a dog's life while it lasts, but now he can spend his hereafter in style.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holbert of this southern Michigan town, will sell his master a deluxe, coppertone, aqua-lined dog coffin for only $100.

"We laughed for months when somebody suggested them," said Mrs. Holbert. "Then we stopped laughing and went into business."

The caskets, painted copper or silver, will retail from $25 up, depending on size and style.

"When people heard we were making them, they began writing," Mrs. Holbert said. "A man in Florida said the old family dog is dying of heart disease and they wanted an honorable burial for him. He ordered a coffin and asked about becoming a dealer."

A skilled woodworker, Holbert opened a small factory next to his home last spring.

"We do lamp bases and industrial wood products," said Mrs. Holbert. "Then we got to thinking about what city people do with their dogs and cats."

Advice Offered Skateboard Fans

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Advice to sidewalk surfers: Wear shoes with nonskid soles, and confine yourself to smoothly paved surfaces free of large cracks.

The Maryland Health Department has taken official cognizance of the prevalence of wrist and ankle fractures among 11- to 14-year-olds who ride skateboards.

The boards, about two feet long with roller skate wheels attached under each end, have no brakes and are steered only by body movements.

Ronald Niswander, chief of the department's accident prevention program, cautioned beginners to wait for experience before striving for speed.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here's a tip I've used that might be helpful for other mothers:

Use a small insulated ice bucket (I used the inexpensive pastic, foam type) filled with ice to store baby's bottles in at night, and put it beside your bed.

This eliminates trips to the refrigerator.

Of course, a bottle warmer is needed, too.

I never have to get out of bed at night, as I keep his cradle beside our bed.

IRENE DONNELLY.

-:-

You're a smart Mommy, if I ever saw one!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I just discovered that an empty cigar box makes a fine carton for mailing small articles.

The box is very strong, but lightweight — no heavier than regular cartons. Besides, most stores will give them to you without charge.

READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make a new dress for my 4-year-old, I use the scraps to make a matching purse.

I use a round, plastic, detergent container for the base. I cut off the top of the container, leaving the bottom about four inches tall.

Next, I cut a piece of material the shape of the bottom, plus straight piece long enough to go around the bottom piece of material, and as wide as the plastic is tall, allowing an additional five inches for a hem at the top. I sew the pieces together, hem and stitch a seam to make a casing for a drawstring. Insert cord or tape for drawstring.

This makes cute purses to match her dresses, and she loves them.

MRS. T. H. LAMBERT.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever look into your thermos bottle and see the small, brown film left from coffee?

To eliminate this film, tear up some newspaper into small pieces, put it in the thermos, add a small amount of detergent and hot water, soak a few minutes, then shake and wash.

Presto! You have a bright, shiny thermos bottle.

MRS. J. E. PHELAN.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's the way I use spray starch, and it works beautifully for me:

I spray my clothes with starch like I normally would when ready to iron, but instead of ironing them immediately, I roll them up in a towel and put them in the refrigerator overnight.

The next morning they are just right for ironing, as the starch is evenly distributed . . . and no starch sticks to the iron.

LINDA F.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the empty rolls from toilet tissue to wind embroidery floss on, and the color number can be written on the cardboard for handy ordering.

LOUISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint I would like to pass along to your readers.

Sometimes when a drainboard, or other objects, are left on composition kitchen counters, a film appears which cannot be removed by any cleanser.

Just rub the meat of a walnut on this area, and, presto! The finish is restored to its former luster.

I had my two sons take a piece of the walnut meat and go scribbling all over the whole counter.

It's just like new now!

HELEN KIRBY.

Lions Outline Activities At Zone Session

Activities for the year were outlined during a Lions' zone meeting Monday night at Hoge's Restaurant, with 22 representatives from clubs in East Liverpool, Minerva, Malvern and Carrollton attending.

Richard Walker of East Liverpool, zone chairman, presided.

Stephen Smith of Canton, international counselor and state treasurer for the international convention committee, discussed the 1966 conclave in New York when W. R. (Dick) Bryan of Doylestown will be nominated for international third vice president.

John Snively of Minerva, international counselor and district chairman of the international relations project, discussed the six schools for which Ohio Lions will raise construction funds. Three schools are located in Ecuador and three in Guatemala.

George McCullough of East Liverpool, international counselor, reported on the statewide "Candy Day" project which will be held Oct. 3-10.

Roy Lewis of Willowbrook, senior deputy governor, reported on district activities.

Graham's Condition Reported Satisfactory

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham was resting in satisfactory condition today after a second trip to surgery.

Dr. Graham, 46, underwent surgery last Thursday for a prostate gland condition. He was taken back to surgery Monday for cauterization of what a Mayo Clinic spokesman said was "a tiny blood vessel."

The spokesman said bleeding occurs in about one in a hundred such cases and is not considered serious.

It was expected Graham would be released from the hospital late this week.

3 Seamen Missing After Blast On Ship

MONTREAL (AP)—At least three seamen were missing after an explosion today aboard the Canada Steamship Line freighter Fort William, carrying a cargo of oil.

Capt. Samuel Wilkinson of Orillia, Ont., said there might be five men still aboard the burning ship.

The explosion occurred about 4:30 a.m. while the captain and about 20 crew members were sleeping aboard the vessel.

Firemen had to smash their way into the captain's cabin to free him.

An hour after the fire started, the ship was lying on her side and still burning.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Toilet Training Frequently Difficult

A mother from Ohio writes: "We've two boys, ages four and seven. Our problem is with the four-year old. We cannot toilet train him. He doesn't wet his pants and hasn't since the age of two, but will not go to the bathroom for bowel movements: "He goes a week to ten days without a bowel movement at which time, if a laxtive doesn't work, I have to give him an enema. The size of his stool at this time is unbelievable.

Dr. Garry Myers

"However, throughout this period between bowel movements he does just a little in his pants. I've changed his stained pants until I could scream! He will hide or squat and I know he has to go—therefore, I rush him to his potty chair (he doesn't like to sit on the toilet) and he will stop.

—:—

"WE PRAISE him when he goes as he should. We have also spanked him, stood him in the corner, shamed him, put him to bed, promised him a favorite toy if he would go properly one week, which incidentally he hasn't gotten yet.

"My husband's talked quietly 'man to man' with him and we've left him sitting on the potty chair until he's fallen asleep. He promises at the time to go as he should, but the next day or two it's the same thing all over again.

"We've had him checked by our doctor and there is nothing physically wrong to justify his acting this way. This September he will be entering kindergarten and it is going to be embarrassing for him as well as us if doesn't change this habit.

"He's intelligent and likes to do things with his hands and for himself. He is a good eater; and listens to us when corrected for other things. This is our only problem with him.

MY REPLY in part:

Your problem is not easy. Pulling at his heartstrings and exacting promises are futile. I'm sure you won't get very far by scolding or punishing him or forcing him to sit for an excessive period of time on a commode.

Try to get him to sit there willingly. You might even reward him with some candy, brushing his teeth afterwards. Be sure to praise him as he cooperates.

It is important that you train him in a regular time in bowel movements, as right after breakfast. If you are going to use an anema anyway, it might be well to consider using it at that time to help get going a good habit—with your pediatrician's advice, of course.

Your pediatrician might help you in selecting and preparing his diet so that his stool will not be so large and hard.

I HOPE you read a great deal to this child, cuddle him and have good times with him when all is well; and provide him with a serene and understanding family atmosphere. Anything you can do to help him feel more relaxed, especially at strategic times, should help.

My bulletins, "Stubborness," and "Training Child in Toilet Habits," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Personnel Changes Announced At Banks

WEIRTON — The retirement of E. D. Rothrock as president of the Bank of Weirton and The People's Bank on Nov. 1 heads a series of personnel changes announced by the boards of directors of the two financial institutions.

David N. Thomas advances from the position of vice president to succeed Rothrock as president of the Bank of Weirton; Robert E. Mentzer, vice president of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Waynesburg, Pa., becomes president of The People's Bank and executive vice president of the Bank of Weirton.

At the Bank of Weirton, George Molnar has been promoted from assistant vice president and cashier to vice president; D. R. Billham advances from assistant cashier to cashier, and George Martich and Robert Vagnoni are both elected assistant cashiers.

R. E. Wickham continues as vice president of The People's Bank, R. L. Heale advances from assistant cashier to cashier and E. W. Phillips is elected assistant cashier.

Membership Activity Outlined At Meeting

Francis House, chairman, reported on the 1966 membership campaign during a meeting of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 Monday night.

House, who also is service officer, presented the monthly report on the county soldiers' and sailors' relief program.

Elvie McDevitt, finance officer, read the post bills. Sam Maylone, commander, conducted business.

A dance will be held Saturday night from 10 to 1. The Tempos will provide the music. A cocktail hour will be held from 9 to 10.

New Quarters At Scout Site Named For Salem Resident

DELROY — "Wilson's Wigwam" has been the name chosen for new quarters to house the director at the Boy Scout summer training camp here on Leesville Lake.

The cabin was given to the camp by a group of persons interested in scouting to honor James H. Wilson of Salem. Wilson has been active in the boy scout movement for years and has contributed greatly to the program and facilities at the camp, a Columbiana Council Scout official pointed out.

The dedication ceremony Sunday and the unveiling of the plaque mounted on the cabin were supervised by George Bowman of Salem, chairman of the dedication committee. Bowman also made the presentation to Wilson before a group assembled from various county communities which comprise the Columbiana Council.

Accepting formally for the council and speaking briefly on the progress of the camp was William Readshaw, chairman of camping and activities of the council.

John C. Thompson of East Liverpool, president of the council, thanked those who helped make the building a reality.

Columbus Man Killed With Shotgun Blast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 39-year-old Columbus man was killed late Monday night by a shotgun blast fired by a neighbor, police said.

Police followed a trail of blood and found Jack Green Jr. mortally wounded in his home. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

U.S. Seeks To Lessen Future Storms' Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is moving in the wake of Hurricane Betsy to try to lessen the impact of future hurricanes.

If it is successful, the storms will be detected earlier, tracked more accurately — and, possibly, seeded into harmlessness.

But all this may be a long way off, a report presented Monday to President Johnson by Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor indicated.

The report, essentially an account of what the brand new Environmental Science Services Administration is doing or would like to do about the weather, made these major points:

1. The government must explore the possibilities of controlling the weather.

2. The Commerce Department is speeding plans for U.S. participation in a world "weather watch"—an international pooling of weather information.

3. A special federal survey group soon will recommend an improved system of warning the nation of weather hazards.

On this last point, the government's weathermen — like Air Force chiefs at the Pentagon — talk about "fail-safe facilities."

In essence, the problem is how to get warnings to the people when a power failure has knocked radio and television stations off the air.

Discussing the report with newsmen, J. Herbert Hollomon, assistant secretary of commerce for science and technology, spoke of arrangements for "back-up power for communications media," but neither he nor the report spelled this out.

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Ringo Starr gave birth to a son Monday and her Beatle husband pronounced him "a little smasher."

"I was too excited to ask how much he weighed in—who worries about things like that when you've just become a father?" asked Ringo.

Ringo and the former Maureen Cox, a hairdresser from the Beatles' hometown of Liverpool, were married in February.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey visited Omaha Monday and paid tribute to Nebraskans who have volunteered to help underprivileged preschool youngsters.

"You have reached out to less fortunate individuals in our country with patience, understanding and a spirit of adventure," the wife of the vice president told volunteers of Project Head Start and Omaha's pioneering Project Aid.

PARIS (AP)—Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz has been honored at a dinner in the French Foreign Ministry.

His hosts Monday were Premier Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here's a tip I've used that might be helpful for other mothers:

Use a small insulated ice bucket (I used the inexpensive pastic, foam type) filled with ice to store baby's bottles in at night, and put it beside your bed.

This eliminates trips to the refrigerator.

Of course, a bottle warmer is needed, too.

I never have to get out of bed at night, as I keep his cradle beside our bed.

IRENE DONNELLY.

-:-

You're a smart Mommy, if I ever saw one!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I just discovered that an empty cigar box makes a fine carton for mailing small articles.

The box is very strong, but lightweight — no heavier than regular cartons. Besides, most stores will give them to you without charge.

READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make a new dress for my 4-year-old, I use the scraps to make a matching purse.

I use a round, plastic, detergent container for the base. I cut off the top of the container, leaving the bottom about four inches tall.

Next, I cut a piece of material the shape of the bottom, plus straight piece long enough to go around the bottom piece of material, and as wide as the plastic is tall, allowing an additional five inches for a hem at the top. I sew the pieces together, hem and stitch a seam to make a casing for a drawstring. Insert cord or tape for drawstring.

This makes cute purses to match her dresses, and she loves them.

MRS. T. H. LAMBERT.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever look into your thermos bottle and see the small, brown film left from coffee?

To eliminate this film, tear up some newspaper into small pieces, put it in the thermos, add a small amount of detergent and hot water, soak a few minutes, then shake and wash.

Presto! You have a bright, shiny thermos bottle.

MRS. J. E. PHELAN.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's the way I use spray starch, and it works beautifully for me:

I spray my clothes with starch like I normally would when ready to iron, but instead of ironing them immediately, I roll them up in a towel and put them in the refrigerator overnight.

The next morning they are just right for ironing, as the starch is evenly distributed . . . and no starch sticks to the iron.

LINDA F.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the empty rolls from toilet tissue to wind embroidery floss on, and the color number can be written on the cardboard for handy ordering.

LOUISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint I would like to pass along to your readers.

Sometimes when a drainboard, or other objects, are left on composition kitchen counters, a film appears which cannot be removed by any cleanser.

Just rub the meat of a walnut on this area, and, presto! The finish is restored to its former luster.

I had my two sons take a piece of the walnut meat and go scribbling all over the whole counter.

It's just like new now!

HELEN KIRBY.

Graham's Condition Reported Satisfactory

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham was resting in satisfactory condition today after a second trip to surgery.

Dr. Graham, 46, underwent surgery last Thursday for a prostate gland condition. He was taken back to surgery Monday for cauterization of what a Mayo Clinic spokesman said was "a tiny blood vessel."

The spokesman said bleeding occurs in about one in a hundred such cases and is not considered serious.

It was expected Graham would be released from the hospital late this week.

3 Seamen Missing After Blast On Ship

MONTREAL (AP)—At least three seamen were missing after an explosion today aboard the Canada Steamship Line freighter Fort William, carrying a cargo of oil.

Capt. Samuel Wilkinson of Orillia, Ont., said there might be five men still aboard the burning ship.

The explosion occurred about 4:30 a.m. while the captain and about 20 crew members were sleeping aboard the vessel.

Firemen had to smash their way into the captain's cabin to free him.

An hour after the fire started, the ship was lying on her side and still burning.

Lions Outline Activities At Zone Session

Activities for the year were outlined during a Lions' zone meeting Monday night at Hoge's Restaurant, with 22 representatives from clubs in East Liverpool, Minerva, Malvern and Carrollton attending.

Richard Walker of East Liverpool, zone chairman, presided.

Stephen Smith of Canton, international counselor and state treasurer for the international convention committee, discussed the 1966 conclave in New York when W. R. (Dick) Bryan of Doylestown will be nominated for international third vice president.

John Snively of Minerva, international counselor and district chairman of the international relations project, discussed the six schools for which Ohio Lions will raise construction funds. Three schools are located in Ecuador and three in Guatemala.

George McCullough of East Liverpool, international counselor, reported on the statewide "Candy Day" project which will be held Oct. 3-10.

Roy Lewis of Willowbrook, senior deputy governor, reported on district activities.

Personnel Changes Announced At Banks

WEIRTON — The retirement of E. D. Rothrock as president of the Bank of Weirton and The People's Bank on Nov. 1 heads a series of personnel changes announced by the boards of directors of the two financial institutions.

David N. Thomas advances from the position of vice president to succeed Rothrock as president of the Bank of Weirton; Robert E. Mentzer, vice president of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Waynesburg, Pa., becomes president of The People's Bank and executive vice president of the Bank of Weirton.

At the Bank of Weirton, George Molnar has been promoted from assistant vice president and cashier to vice president; D. R. Billham advances from assistant cashier to cashier, and George Martich and Robert Vagnoni are both elected assistant cashiers.

R. E. Wickham continues as vice president of The People's Bank, R. L. Heale advances from assistant cashier to cashier and E. W. Phillips is elected assistant cashier.

Membership Activity Outlined At Meeting

Francis House, chairman, reported on the 1966 membership campaign during a meeting of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 Monday night.

House, who also is service officer, presented the monthly report on the county soldiers' and sailors' relief program.

Elvie McDevitt, finance officer, read the post bills. Sam Maylone, commander, conducted business.

A dance will be held Saturday night from 10 to 1. The Tempos will provide the music. A cocktail hour will be held from 9 to 10.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Toilet Training Frequently Difficult

A mother from Ohio writes: "We've two boys, ages four and seven. Our problem is with the four-year old. We cannot toilet train him. He doesn't wet his pants and hasn't since the age of two, but will not go to the bathroom for bowel movements: "He goes a week to ten days without a bowel movement at which time, if a laxtive doesn't work, I have to give him an enema. The size of his stool at this time is unbelievable.

Dr. Garry Myers

"However, throughout this period between bowel movements he does just a little in his pants. I've changed his stained pants until I could scream! He will hide or squat and I know he has to go—therefore, I rush him to his potty chair (he doesn't like to sit on the toilet) and he will stop.

—:—

"WE PRAISE him when he goes as he should. We have also spanked him, stood him in the corner, shamed him, put him to bed, promised him a favorite toy if he would go properly one week, which incidentally he hasn't gotten yet.

"My husband's talked quietly 'man to man' with him and we've left him sitting on the potty chair until he's fallen asleep. He promises at the time to go as he should, but the next day or two it's the same thing all over again.

"We've had him checked by our doctor and there is nothing physically wrong to justify his acting this way. This September he will be entering kindergarten and it is going to be embarrassing for him as well as us if doesn't change this habit.

"He's intelligent and likes to do things with his hands and for himself. He is a good eater; and listens to us when corrected for other things. This is our only problem with him.

MY REPLY in part:

Your problem is not easy. Pulling at his heartstrings and exacting promises are futile. I'm sure you won't get very far by scolding or punishing him or forcing him to sit for an excessive period of time on a commode.

Try to get him to sit there willingly. You might even reward him with some candy, brushing his teeth afterwards. Be sure to praise him as he cooperates.

It is important that you train him in a regular time in bowel movements, as right after breakfast. If you are going to use an anema anyway, it might be well to consider using it at that time to help get going a good habit—with your pediatrician's advice, of course.

Your pediatrician might help you in selecting and preparing his diet so that his stool will not be so large and hard.

I HOPE you read a great deal to this child, cuddle him and have good times with him when all is well; and provide him with a serene and understanding family atmosphere. Anything you can do to help him feel more relaxed, especially at strategic times, should help.

My bulletins, "Stubborness," and "Training Child in Toilet Habits," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

New Quarters At Scout Site Named For Salem Resident

DELROY — "Wilson's Wigwam" has been the name chosen for new quarters to house the director at the Boy Scout summer training camp here on Leesville Lake.

The cabin was given to the camp by a group of persons interested in scouting to honor James H. Wilson of Salem. Wilson has been active in the boy scout movement for years and has contributed greatly to the program and facilities at the camp, a Columbiana Council Scout official pointed out.

The dedication ceremony Sunday and the unveiling of the plaque mounted on the cabin were supervised by George Bowman of Salem, chairman of the dedication committee. Bowman also made the presentation to Wilson before a group assembled from various county communities which comprise the Columbiana Council.

Accepting formally for the council and speaking briefly on the progress of the camp was William Readshaw, chairman of camping and activities of the council.

John C. Thompson of East Liverpool, president of the council, thanked those who helped make the building a reality.

U.S. Seeks To Lessen Future Storms' Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is moving in the wake of Hurricane Betsy to try to lessen the impact of future hurricanes.

Religion Was Chief Criterion

India-Pakistan Argument Began At Independence

By DARIUS S. JHABVAIA
Hearald Tribune News Service

The dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir — a mountainous land of 3 million people that is one of the most exquisitely beautiful spots in the world — is as old as the independence of the two nations.

In the 18 years since the conflict began, diplomatic and legal intricacies and Indian-Pakistani competition for military and economic supremacy have grow to overshadow the original causes of the dispute.

And the desires of native Kashmiris have had little influence on their country's fate.

THE DISPUTE BEGAN shortly after India and Pakistan were declared free from British rule in August 1947. Under pressure, native states and tribal territories on the subcontinent joined one nation or the other. The chief criterion was religion — Moslems joining Pakistan and Hindus joining India.

But the situation was complicated when — as in Kashmir — the local ruler was of one faith and the majority of his people of the other. Kasmir's ruling maharajah was a Hindu, but 75 per cent of the inhabitants were Moslems.

On Aug. 15, 1947, Kashmir signed an agreement with Pakistan which barred Kashmir from entering into negotiations with any other country.

But this agreement — which might have kept Kashmir free from union with either India or Pakistan — broke down when Moslem tribesmen, armed and encouraged by Pakistan, involved the state and attempted to capture Srinagar, the capital.

THE MAJARAJAH immediately flew to New Delhi and delivered a signed instrument of accession making Kashmir a part of India. This accession was ratified by the Constituent Assembly of Kashmir in 1952.

The majarajah's action authorized India to send troops to defend the state against the Moslem tribesmen. Meanwhile, in January 1948 India appealed to the United Nations Security Council to call on Pakistan to halt assistance to the tribesmen.

Pakistan countercharged that the accession of Kashmir to India was illegal and that the Indian forces unlawfully had occupied the state.

INDIA and Pakistan agreed that Pakistan would withdraw its troops and stop aid to the tribesmen; pending a final solution, the territory would be administered by local authorities under the supervision of a U.N. commission; after Pakistan had completed the withdrawal of its troops, India would begin withdrawing the bulk of its forces and the accession of the state would be decided by a free and impartial plebiscite.

The 750-mile cease-fire line placed two-thirds of Kashmir in India's hands and the rest in Pakistan's.

NOW, NEARLY 17 years later and after 126 meetings of the Security Council, neither Pakistan nor India has carried out the agreed terms for a variety of reasons, most of which have to do with internal political pressures.

India considers itself in legal possession of Kashmir through the instrument of accession and its ratification. The Indians maintain that a plebisicte in Kashmir would have to be held only on the question of confronting or rejecting the accession.

The matter of a plebiscite on Kashmir's becoming a part of Pakistan is not involved, the Indians assert.

THE INDIANS also argue that Pakistani forces are in their section of Kashmir illegally and insist that until the Pakistanis withdraw completely, the rest of the 1949 agreement — including the plebiscite — cannot be implemented.

Pakistan maintains that the original accession of Kashmir to India was illegal since the earlier standstill agreement with Pakistan had barred such a move.

The Pakistanis thus reject Indian claims and refuse to withdraw their own forces so long as Indian troops "illegally occupy" other parts of Kashmir.

Law And Order, Patriotism Aired By Legion Post 4

A discussion on the lack of patriotism and respect for law and order highlighted the meeting of American Legion Post 4 Monday night at the Siff Building.

Ben Poling was appointed disaster and relief chairman to cooperate with the Red Cross in event of a local emergency.

A telephone committee was named to contact members for special occasions.

It was announced an audit will be made of the Veterans City Council books Wednesday night at the post quarters to determine the amount still owed on the new memorial. The council will meet Friday night.

Ray Cunningham, commander, reported on the national convention he attended in Portland, Ore., as a county delegate. Warrick Johnston reported on the County Council meeting.

Lunch was served by Emmett Blake and committee.

Continuances Slated In 2 City Tax Charges

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted continuances in cases of two men charged with violation of the city income tax ordinance.

He reset a hearing Sept. 24 for Eugene Tuckweller, 1044½ Bradshaw Ave., and ordered a continuance until Sept. 27 for Hugh V. Ward, 827 Alton St. Both are charged with failure to file a final return on 1964 earnings before the deadline April 15.

The judge issued a bench warrant for arrest of Glenn Weyand Jr., 1195 Dodge St., also accused of failure to file a final 1964 return. The three were among 19 named in affidavits filed Sept. 3 by Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson. Two charges were withdrawn when the defendants made settlements with the tax office shortly before court convened. The defendants were listed as Robert Brewer, 135 W. 2nd St., and Mrs. Robert Henthorn, 734 Sophia St.

Fines Are Assessed At Cumberland Court

NEW CUMBERLAND—Frank Fabian, 27, of Weirton was fined $50 and costs Monday by Justice of the Peace John D. Herron of New Cumberland for discharging a pistol "to create a breach of the peace." Fabian was arrested by Hancock deputies.

Harry Jordan, 29, of Worthville, Pa., was fined $10 and costs in a separate hearing in New Cumberland police court, with Herron presiding judge. Jordan was cited by Chief William Webster.

Pay Hike Set By Southern Local Board

SALINEVILLE — Pay increases for non-certificated personnel of the Southern Local School District were authorized by the board of education at a meeting Monday night at No. 16 School.

The increases, in line with state standards, include yearly boosts of $25 for bus drivers, $162 for Miss Marilyn Siegler, secretary; $60 for cooks, $150 for custodians and $123 for the board clerk, Mrs. Joan Dixon.

Jack Baker, executive head, reported the seventh - grade class at Salineville is overcrowded with 47 students. The board authorized hiring of another seventh - grade teacher, if one can be obtained, along with purchase of desks, if the grade can be divided.

The board also is seeking a part-time nurse to fill the post held by Mrs. Carolyn Hepler of Highlandtown, who resigned last year. The nurse would serve three days a week.

A $4,690 contract was awarded Roger Green of East Liverpool for installation of three oil conversion units to the heating system at Wayne School. The present coal system has been faulty for some time.

Fred Johnson of Summitville was appointed a member of the board to complete the term of Robert Springer, who resigned recently. The term runs to Dec. 31. Johnson is president of the Summitville Tile Co.

Edward Thompson was appointed a delegate to a meeting of the Northeastern District of the Ohio School Boards Association Oct. 16 at Kent.

Martin Adams was appointed a delegate to the state convention of the Ohio School Boards Association at Columbus in November. Miss Ruth McNichol was named alternate.

The board will receive bids for supplying eggs to the district's six cafeterias, it was announced. The district no longer receives dried eggs under the state program.

Applications for substitute bus drivers from Frank Thorne of Highlandtown and Albert Brammer of Salineville were approved.

A resolution was approved requesting Title Three assistance for audio - visual aid equipment, books and other items.

Tour Ended By 4 From Salineville

Four Salineville residents have returned from a trip through Michigan and the north - central states. They include Mrs. Hazel Hogue and daughter, Miss Norma Hogue, Mrs. Nelle Smith and Mrs. Myrtle Brammer.

Mrs. Ellen Conlin and Mrs. Besse Strabley have returned from an Akron visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peterson of East Liverpool visited her mother, Mrs. Valeria Stephens, Sunday.

Miss Sandy Girone of Lincoln St. has begun duties in the office of County Prosecutor Warren Bettis.

Mrs. Pearl Burns is a patient at Salem City Hospital with a fractured hip.

Mrs. Melba Rutledge has returned to Salem City Hospital.

City To Get Delivery Of Copying Machine

A new copying machine that will be used on a lease arrangement was scheduled for delivery to City Hall today.

Made by the Xerox Corp. of Rochester, N. Y., the device will cost the city approximately $30 a month under an arrangement approved by Council in late August. It will replace an old spirit - type rotary duplicator used for many years.

The new copier will be installed in the office of Council Clerk Lawrence Applegate. One of its principal uses will be in duplicating ordinances, resolutions and other records for Council. However, it will be available to all other city departments.

New Methods Seen Helpful

English Troubles Pupils

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — So what is it with youngsters and the English language?

"They can't read it, they can't write it, they can't spell it, they can't use it," says English teacher Nellie Thomas.

Most of all, Mrs. Thomas says, they can't write it:

"The monosyllabic grunts so many high-schoolers communicate with are transcribed with heart-breaking fidelity to the scribbled page."

But, she added in an article in the journal "Illinois Education," "it wasn't the pupils' fault that they were lazy, inarticulate and illiterate. It was the fault of the methods we were using in the first four grades."

The thing to do, Mrs. Thomas decided, was to develop a new method of teaching children how to write. So she did—a method that has children writing original, legible, coherent sentences with properly spelled words, as early as the end of the first grade.

And that's writing she teaches, cursive writing, not printing.

Mrs. Thomas started putting her theories to work back in 1951 in the Westview Elementary School here. Basic to all was her conviction that traditional methods don't work because the children don't get enough writing practice.

What evolved was a sort of do-it-yourself learning technique with the pupils responsible for finding their own mistakes and correcting them.

Here's how it works:

When the pupils hand in their daily written assignments, Mrs. Thomas glances over them. If she finds mistakes, she doesn't mark them—she merely hands the paper back to the child.

Then she goes to the board and writes 8 or 10 sentences, full of the mistakes she has noted in the papers. And she asks the class to find the mistakes.

"I'll discuss the mistakes with them," she said. "I'll explain why you use one verb form instead of another, or the difference between to, too, and two. But I never make the corrections on the board—the sentences stay there just as they are.

"Then I ask the youngsters to write the sentences properly. They have to go through them all, find the mistakes and correct them. If I made the corrections, the children would just copy them, and they wouldn't learn a thing."

On the papers handed back, the pupils also are expected to find and correct their mistakes.

Mrs. Thomas spends only a few days teaching penmanship. She teaches the proper form for each letter and insists the pupils write each one as carefully as if it were a drawing lession.

"Whenever they get careless or sloppy," Mrs. Thomas said, "I simply refuse to accept their work. They have to do it over. They soon get the idea."

Mrs. Thomas also used a phonetic system of teaching reading and insists that each child have a dictionary from the second grade on. Misspelled word? Look it up.

Last fall, her revolutionary methods, a distillation of years of trial and error and revision, were adopted in the three-school Lincoln Park District, just outside Rockford. At the same time, the district adopted the Open Court reading program with a strong phonetic approach.

In the Open Court program, the children start learning letter sounds and printing on their very first day in first grade. By the eighth lesson they are printing sentences dictated by the teacher. By the 20th, they are working with three- and four-sentence stories.

In most classes, by the end of the first semester, the children have learned all the letter sounds and blends; they know the alphabet; they are taking increasingly difficult dictation from the teacher and they are printing their own original sentences and stories.

And, in two of the eight first-grade classes last year, the children were ready for Nellie Thomas' method of learning cursive, or longhand, writing. The other six classes will start with it on the first day of the second grade.

It's obvious to the classroom visitor that the youngsters enjoy moving up from printing to writing. Ironically, they even seem to enjoy finding the mistakes.

U.S. Sues Pair, Insurance Firm In Embezzlement

CLEVELAND (AP)—The U.S. Government has filed suit against two Youngstown men and a Pennsylvania insurance company to recover $4,092 embezzled by one of the men who was employed to collect rents at a federally insured housing project in Youngstown.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Nate Jones filed the suit Monday in U. S. District Court here against Jim Garnder and Edwin Wallace of Youngstown and the American Casualty Insurance Co. of Reading, Pa., which has an office in Cleveland.

Wallace was convicted in federal court here last year of embezzling the money while he was employed by Jim Gardner Associates, which had a contract with the government to collect rents at the McGuffey Terrace apartments in Youngstown.

Gardner was bonded by the American Casualty Co.

Firm Due To Resume Streets' Seal-Coating

The Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co. of Canton was scheduled to resume work today on seal-coating of East Liverpool secondary streets following an interruption Monday caused by rain.

The concern will resume the project on the North Side area east of St. Clair Ave. When that area has been covered, it will move to the same district west of St. Clair.

The concern is applying the coating to streets surfaced initially in 1963 in the city's low-cost summer improvement program. Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said about 33 per cent of the seal-coating has been finished. The cost is paid entirely by the city out of income tax revenue.

Police Quiz 2 Men In Death Of Woman

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Police are questioning two men in the fatal shooting of a 51-year-old woman in a house in Fredericksburg, about 10 miles south of here.

Wayne County Coroner Lyman A. Adair said Mrs. Ruth Hoffman "was killed in the home with them (the two men) present but we don't know whether she shot herself or somebody else shot her."

Mrs. Hoffman, a former Wooster resident, had walked away from Hawthornden State Hospital Sunday night. The hospital, between Akron and Cleveland, is over 40 miles from Fredericksburg.

Religion Was Chief Criterion

India-Pakistan Argument Began At Independence

By DARIUS S. JHABVAIA
Hearald Tribune News Service

The dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir — a mountainous land of 3 million people that is one of the most exquisitely beautiful spots in the world — is as old as the independence of the two nations.

In the 18 years since the conflict began, diplomatic and legal intricacies and Indian-Pakistani competition for military and economic supremacy have grow to overshadow the original causes of the dispute.

And the desires of native Kashmiris have had little influence on their country's fate.

THE DISPUTE BEGAN shortly after India and Pakistan were declared free from British rule in August 1947. Under pressure, native states and tribal territories on the subcontinent joined one nation or the other. The chief criterion was religion — Moslems joining Pakistan and Hindus joining India.

But the situation was complicated when — as in Kashmir — the local ruler was of one faith and the majority of his people of the other. Kasmir's ruling maharajah was a Hindu, but 75 per cent of the inhabitants were Moslems.

On Aug. 15, 1947, Kashmir signed an agreement with Pakistan which barred Kashmir from entering into negotiations with any other country.

But this agreement — which might have kept Kashmir free from union with either India or Pakistan — broke down when Moslem tribesmen, armed and encouraged by Pakistan, involved the state and attempted to capture Srinagar, the capital.

THE MAJARAJAH immediately flew to New Delhi and delivered a signed instrument of accession making Kashmir a part of India. This accession was ratified by the Constituent Assembly of Kashmir in 1952.

The majarajah's action authorized India to send troops to defend the state against the Moslem tribesmen. Meanwhile, in January 1948 India appealed to the United Nations Security Council to call on Pakistan to halt assistance to the tribesmen.

Pakistan countercharged that the accession of Kashmir to India was illegal and that the Indian forces unlawfully had occupied the state.

INDIA and Pakistan agreed that Pakistan would withdraw its troops and stop aid to the tribesmen; pending a final solution, the territory would be administered by local authorities under the supervision of a U.N. commission; after Pakistan had completed the withdrawal of its troops, India would begin withdrawing the bulk of its forces and the accession of the state would be decided by a free and impartial plebiscite.

The 750-mile cease-fire line placed two-thirds of Kashmir in India's hands and the rest in Pakistan's.

NOW, NEARLY 17 years later and after 126 meetings of the Security Council, neither Pakistan nor India has carried out the agreed terms for a variety of reasons, most of which have to do with internal political pressures.

India considers itself in legal possession of Kashmir through the instrument of accession and its ratification. The Indians maintain that a plebisicte in Kashmir would have to be held only on the question of confronting or rejecting the accession.

The matter of a plebiscite on Kashmir's becoming a part of Pakistan is not involved, the Indians assert.

THE INDIANS also argue that Pakistani forces are in their section of Kashmir illegally and insist that until the Pakistanis withdraw completely, the rest of the 1949 agreement — including the plebiscite — cannot be implemented.

Pakistan maintains that the original accession of Kashmir to India was illegal since the earlier standstill agreement with Pakistan had barred such a move.

The Pakistanis thus reject Indian claims and refuse to withdraw their own forces so long as Indian troops "illegally occupy" other parts of Kashmir.

Law And Order, Patriotism Aired By Legion Post 4

A discussion on the lack of patriotism and respect for law and order highlighted the meeting of American Legion Post 4 Monday night at the Siff Building.

Ben Poling was appointed disaster and relief chairman to cooperate with the Red Cross in event of a local emergency.

A telephone committee was named to contact members for special occasions.

It was announced an audit will be made of the Veterans City Council books Wednesday night at the post quarters to determine the amount still owed on the new memorial. The council will meet Friday night.

Ray Cunningham, commander, reported on the national convention he attended in Portland, Ore., as a county delegate. Warrick Johnston reported on the County Council meeting.

Lunch was served by Emmett Blake and committee.

Continuances Slated In 2 City Tax Charges

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted continuances in cases of two men charged with violation of the city income tax ordinance.

He reset a hearing Sept. 24 for Eugene Tuckweller, 1044½ Bradshaw Ave., and ordered a continuance until Sept. 27 for Hugh V. Ward, 827 Alton St. Both are charged with failure to file a final return on 1964 earnings before the deadline April 15.

The judge issued a bench warrant for arrest of Glenn Weyand Jr., 1195 Dodge St., also accused of failure to file a final 1964 return. The three were among 19 named in affidavits filed Sept. 3 by Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson. Two charges were withdrawn when the defendants made settlements with the tax office shortly before court convened. The defendants were listed as Robert Brewer, 135 W. 2nd St., and Mrs. Robert Henthorn, 734 Sophia St.

Fines Are Assessed At Cumberland Court

NEW CUMBERLAND—Frank Fabian, 27, of Weirton was fined $50 and costs Monday by Justice of the Peace John D. Herron of New Cumberland for discharging a pistol "to create a breach of the peace." Fabian was arrested by Hancock deputies.

Harry Jordan, 29, of Worthville, Pa., was fined $10 and costs in a separate hearing in New Cumberland police court, with Herron presiding judge. Jordan was cited by Chief William Webster.

Pay Hike Set By Southern Local Board

SALINEVILLE — Pay increases for non-certificated personnel of the Southern Local School District were authorized by the board of education at a meeting Monday night at No. 16 School.

The increases, in line with state standards, include yearly boosts of $25 for bus drivers, $162 for Miss Marilyn Siegler, secretary; $60 for cooks, $150 for custodians and $123 for the board clerk, Mrs. Joan Dixon.

Jack Baker, executive head, reported the seventh - grade class at Salineville is overcrowded with 47 students. The board authorized hiring of another seventh - grade teacher, if one can be obtained, along with purchase of desks, if the grade can be divided.

The board also is seeking a part-time nurse to fill the post held by Mrs. Carolyn Hepler of Highlandtown, who resigned last year. The nurse would serve three days a week.

A $4,690 contract was awarded Roger Green of East Liverpool for installation of three oil conversion units to the heating system at Wayne School. The present coal system has been faulty for some time.

Fred Johnson of Summitville was appointed a member of the board to complete the term of Robert Springer, who resigned recently. The term runs to Dec. 31. Johnson is president of the Summitville Tile Co.

Edward Thompson was appointed a delegate to a meeting of the Northeastern District of the Ohio School Boards Association Oct. 16 at Kent.

Martin Adams was appointed a delegate to the state convention of the Ohio School Boards Association at Columbus in November. Miss Ruth McNichol was named alternate.

The board will receive bids for supplying eggs to the district's six cafeterias, it was announced. The district no longer receives dried eggs under the state program.

Applications for substitute bus drivers from Frank Thorne of Highlandtown and Albert Brammer of Salineville were approved.

A resolution was approved requesting Title Three assistance for audio - visual aid equipment, books and other items.

Tour Ended By 4 From Salineville

Four Salineville residents have returned from a trip through Michigan and the north - central states. They include Mrs. Hazel Hogue and daughter, Miss Norma Hogue, Mrs. Nelle Smith and Mrs. Myrtle Brammer.

Mrs. Pearl Burns is a patient at Salem City Hospital with a fractured hip.

Mrs. Melba Rutledge has returned to Salem City Hospital.

City To Get Delivery Of Copying Machine

A new copying machine that will be used on a lease arrangement was scheduled for delivery to City Hall today.

Made by the Xerox Corp. of Rochester, N. Y., the device will cost the city approximately $30 a month under an arrangement approved by Council in late August. It will replace an old spirit - type rotary duplicator used for many years.

The new copier will be installed in the office of Council Clerk Lawrence Applegate. One of its principal uses will be in duplicating ordinances, resolutions and other records for Council. However, it will be available to all other city departments.

New Methods Seen Helpful

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — So what is it with youngsters and the English language?

"They can't read it, they can't write it, they can't spell it, they can't use it," says English teacher Nellie Thomas.

Most of all, Mrs. Thomas says, they can't write it:

"The monosyllabic grunts so many high-schoolers communicate with are transcribed with heart-breaking fidelity to the scribbled page."

But, she added in an article in the journal "Illinois Education," "it wasn't the pupils' fault that they were lazy, inarticulate and illiterate. It was the fault of the methods we were using in the first four grades."

The thing to do, Mrs. Thomas decided, was to develop a new method of teaching children how to write. So she did—a method that has children writing original, legible, coherent sentences with properly spelled words, as early as the end of the first grade.

And that's writing she teaches, cursive writing, not printing.

Mrs. Thomas started putting her theories to work back in 1951 in the Westview Elementary School here. Basic to all was her conviction that traditional methods don't work because the children don't get enough writing practice.

What evolved was a sort of do-it-yourself learning technique with the pupils responsible for finding their own mistakes and correcting them.

Here's how it works:

When the pupils hand in their daily written assignments, Mrs. Thomas glances over them. If she finds mistakes, she doesn't mark them—she merely hands the paper back to the child.

Then she goes to the board and writes 8 or 10 sentences, full of the mistakes she has noted in the papers. And she asks the class to find the mistakes.

"I'll discuss the mistakes with them," she said. "I'll explain why you use one verb form instead of another, or the difference between to, too, and two. But I never make the corrections on the board—the sentences stay there just as they are.

"Then I ask the youngsters to write the sentences properly. They have to go through them all, find the mistakes and correct them. If I made the corrections, the children would just copy them, and they wouldn't learn a thing."

On the papers handed back, the pupils also are expected to find and correct their mistakes.

Mrs. Thomas spends only a few days teaching penmanship. She teaches the proper form for each letter and insists the pupils write each one as carefully as if it were a drawing lession.

"Whenever they get careless or sloppy," Mrs. Thomas said, "I simply refuse to accept their work. They have to do it over. They soon get the idea."

Mrs. Thomas also used a phonetic system of teaching reading and insists that each child have a dictionary from the second grade on. Misspelled word? Look it up.

Last fall, her revolutionary methods, a distillation of years of trial and error and revision, were adopted in the three-school Lincoln Park District, just outside Rockford. At the same time, the district adopted the Open Court reading program with a strong phonetic approach.

In the Open Court program, the children start learning letter sounds and printing on their very first day in first grade. By the eighth lesson they are printing sentences dictated by the teacher. By the 20th, they are working with three- and four-sentence stories.

In most classes, by the end of the first semester, the children have learned all the letter sounds and blends; they know the alphabet; they are taking increasingly difficult dictation from the teacher and they are printing their own original sentences and stories.

And, in two of the eight first-grade classes last year, the children were ready for Nellie Thomas' method of learning cursive, or longhand, writing. The other six classes will start with it on the first day of the second grade.

It's obvious to the classroom visitor that the youngsters enjoy moving up from printing to writing. Ironically, they even seem to enjoy finding the mistakes.

The Rev. George Roh, pastor emeritus, performed the double-ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. August Skodacek. Dr. C. A. Gette of Morrisdale, Pa., uncle of the bridegroom, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown was designed with an Empire bodice and sheath skirt. The coat extended into a chapel - length train. A pearl trimmed Dior bow held her shoulder - length veil of imported silk illusion. She carried an arrangement of Rubrum lilies and stock.

Mrs. Frank Barry was matron of honor and Miss Ann Treleven, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Darlin Remias, bridesmaids. They were attired in gowns of white linen designed along A-lines, with circlets of ivy for their headdresses. They carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations and roses.

Dr. Robert Broadbent Jr. of Indianola, Miss., served as best man. Ushers were William F. O'Neill and Ronald Burgess. Timothy Babinchak was ring-bearer for his sister.

The mother of the bride chose a white dress with pastel jacket, green accessories and a corsage of carnations tinted green. The bridegroom's mother appeared in a linen and arnel knit sheath and jacket of pink and beige with brown accessories and pink rosebud and carnation corsage.

Jaycees Vote To Continue 'Junior Miss'

The Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Monday night voted to continue its sponsorship of the Columbiana County Junior Miss pageant.

The program was outlined by Jerry Russell and after a lengthy discussion, the board endorsed the project.

The next pageant tentatively was set for the latter part of December.

Ralph Fusco, president, conducted business. The hall committee reported on work done to the building. It is being rented for public events and is making money, the board was informed. A discussion was held on the purchase of a new furnace for the hall.

The Jaycee of the Month committee said it will announce its selection at the membership meeting Sept. 27.

A public spaghetti dinner will be held Oct. 3 from noon to 6 p. m. at the SOI Hall. Board members will be in charge.

Russell presented the budget for the coming year. The board voted to cooperate in the city beautification program.

A social for members and wives will be held Oct. 9 at the hall. It will be a catered buffet lunch.

An invitation was sent to the Lisbon Jaycees to attend a party at the hall after the Wellsville - Lisbon football game Friday night.

The agenda was set for the monthly membership meeting. Frank Fusco was commended for his work as chairman of the Jaycee Day celebration.

attend the session. First announcement of the meeting was made last Friday.

Charles Sayre reported that the land use committee has completed its studies and has submitted reports to Eckert. The reports were passed on to Ziegler for evaluation. Ziegler said the same committee now will have the task of studying proposals for zoning ordinances and regulations.

Ziegler said he gave copies of a proposed housing code to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper Monday for study. He also distributed copies of the suggested code to members of the commission. Robert Lewis is chairman of the housing committee, which probably will be the next to report to the commission on its studies, Ziegler said.

The consultant reported that the city has been credited with a $1,300 contribution toward the cost of the plan because of services performed by municipal officials. In all, city officials' work on the "master plan" will earn the municipality credit for $4,100, he said.

George Steele presided in the absence of Eckert. Also attending were Mayor George E. Willshaw, James H. Grafton, John Parsons and Vodrey, members of the commission, Don McGillvray, clerk, and Councilmen Robert W. Sample and James Cunningham.

99% of the people who have a choice choose Gas for heating their new home.

Could there possibly be a better recommendation?

If you heat with Gas, you can be sure you enjoy the best heating fuel available. Why does practically every modern homeowner prefer Gas?

Economy. Gas heat is far and away your best buy—electric heat, for example, costs about 2½* times as much as Gas heat.

Comfort. Gas heating systems have warm, flowing air—much more comfortable than the oppressive, still air of electric resistance heat.

Cleanliness. Tracked-in and air-borne dust and dirt are present in all homes, but Gas forced air heating systems have built-in filters to trap them. Electric systems generally have no filters. No place for the dirt to go but on your walls and furniture.

Good reasons? You bet. Whether your home is old or new, large or small, Gas can heat it best.

Lutheran Church Men Plan Anniversary Fete

The St. John's Lutheran Church Men, oldest organization of its kind in continuous service in the Ohio Synod, will observe its 50th anniversary at a dinner Saturday noon at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The principal speaker will be Carl H. Jacobson of Berkeley Heights, N. J., executive secretary of the Lutheran Church Men of America and editor of the organization's publication, "Lutheran Men."

In 1962, Jacobson was elected associate secretary and editor of Lutheran Church Men, the official men's auxiliary of the Lutheran Church of America. In August 1964, he was named executive secretary and continued as editor of "Lutheran Men."

From 1957 to 1962, Jacobson was the executive director of Augustana Lutheran Churchmen, the men's organization of the former Augustana Lutheran Church.

A 1935 graduate of Upsala College at East Orange, N. J., Jacobson was named Upsala Alumnus of the Year in 1959. After studying at New Jersey Law School, he worked as an investigator for a law firm before going into full-time church work in 1957.

He is a charter member of Alpha Phi Omega and a member of Theta Epsilon.

Jacobson and his wife are members of Faith Lutheran Church at Murray Hill, N. J.

C. H. JACOBSON
To Speak At Observance.

Also helping to commemorate the anniversary will be Dr. Herbert W. Veler, president of the Ohio Synod; James Swingle, president of the Ohio Synod LCM, and Pastor Martin Saarinen, dean of the Northeast District.

Also attending will be two former pastors of St. Johns Church — the Rev. Wilbert T. Wilson and Dr. John F. Kindsvatter.

The Rev. Charles Kampmeyer is the present pastor. L. Stanford Ramsey is president of the local LCM, Edwin S. Carson is chairman of the 50th anniversary committee and Roy Cooper will be master of ceremonies.

Little Change Is Noted In Schools' Enrollment

Although school officials had estimated a possible 105 more students, enrollment in East Liverpool schools is virtually unchanged from last year.

An attendance check Monday showed 5,635 enrolled, a gain of 78 since schools opened last week, but four less than were enrolled at the end of the 1964-65 term.

A breakdown of the attendance showed 2,983 enrolled in elementary classes, including 16 each at Garfield and Westgate. That's a decrease of 26 from the 3,009, including 34 special education students, who were enrolled at the end of the last term.

Junior high enrollment totaled 1,326 yesterday, eight more than were registered at the end of the last term.

High school enrollment continued to grow, with attendance reaching the same figure as the junior highs, 1,326, a boost of 14 over last year.

Here's a breakdown of the enrollment by buildings in the elementary and junior highs and by classes in the high school, with attendance at the end of the last school year in parentheses:

Garfield 223 and 16 in special education (250 and 17); Glenmoor 292 (283); Horace Mann 290 (299); Klondyke 97 (99); LaCroft 216 (233); Lincoln 312 (304); McKinley 234 (same); Neville 169 (155); Pleasant Heights 166 (169); Taft 212 (219), and Westgate elementary 740 and 16 in special education (730 and 17).

East Junior High 373 (379) and Westgate Junior High 953 (939).

In the high school, the enrollment figures are sophomores 495 (466); juniors 433 (438), and seniors 398 (408).

Center Residents Voice Common Complaint–Rats

CLEVELAND (AP) — Workers operating out of Cleveland's first Neighborhood Opportunity Center have visited homes in the Central area and discovered that residents have a common complaint—rats.

The center opened Monday and Frank B. Flonnoy, the director, said workers visited "every home on this street." The workers reported back that people want to get rid of the rats and "improve themselves and their surroundings. But they don't know how to start," Flonnoy said.

The center is the first of five that will be opened before Oct. 30 as part of Cleveland's war on povery. The other offices will be in the Hough, Glenville and Kinsman areas on the East Side and on the near West Side.

The centers are being administered by the Greater Cleveland Neighborhood Centers Association with an initial federal grant of $560,000.

Tuffy, The Porpoise, Works For Aquanauts

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — A watchdog-errand boy porpoise called Tuffy began working today for aquanauts living in Sealab 2 on the ocean bottom.

Tuffy, a 7 - foot, 270 - pound male porpoise, was airlifted by helicopter from Point Mugu, Calif., Monday.

His duties include simulated rescues and mail and message deliveries from the surface 205 feet down to the bottom—a 45-second trip for Tuffy.

The trip up for the first team of aquanauts who lived 15 days in Sealab took 10 minutes Sunday, but the nine divers were confined 33 hours in a decompression chamber until midnight Monday.

Tuffy needs no decompression and one of his handlers, aquanaut Kenneth J. Conda, 32, Phoenix, Mich., said he expects the mammal to make about 20 trips daily.

Tuffy was captured in Biloxi, Miss., and trained for his Sealab mission at Point Mugu.

"Tuffy is so well-trained he can come down and tap a lost diver on the shoulder and hand him a life line," Conda said.

The second 10-man team—including Cmdr. M. Scott Carpenter, leader of the first two teams—made its first swims outside their undersea laboratory Monday.

The decompressed aquanauts were to be taken to Balboa Navy Hospital in nearby San Diego for physical examinations. After a debriefing, they'll relax for 36 hours before rejoining the project as surface support divers.

Private, Parochial Schools Being Eyed By State Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education moved Monday to step up the educational quality of small private and parochial schools and again took up the thorny problem of centralized school bus purchases.

Noting that it was "concerned about the quality of the educational programs offered by one and two-room private and parochial schools, the board passed a resolution urging them to consider the possibility of consolidation.

Member Paul Walker of Columbus, in offering the resolution, noted that "Year after year" these schools apply for minimum school standards. Under the minimum standards, the board may grant exemption to enrollment requirements to these schools.

The board's move followed favorable action to exempt 25 one and two-room schools, a majority of which are operated by the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The centralized school bus purchase problem came before the board on the eve of today's second public hearing on the matter in Columbus.

Board member Wayne Shaffer of Bryan pointed out that two bills enacted by the 106th General Assembly have complicated the problem, which the board has wrestled with for more than two years.

He said one of the bills requires the board to devise a new system of centralized bus bidding, but the other permits school districts to contract on an individual basis with school bus dealers.

Thus, he said, in order for the state board to set a base price for school bus purchases, some form of voluntary participation on the part of local school districts must be planned. Bus companies cannot be expected to bid on school buses, he told the board, when there is no guarantee that "they will sell even one bus" to any school district.

Shaffer's plan, which would request school districts to voluntarily commit themselves to centralized bus purchases, was tabled until the October meeting.

The state board also allocated $6,074,010 in federal school aid for construction of high school vocational educational facilities.

Ten school districts will divide up the funds from the Vocation Education Act of 1963. Largest amount, $14,423,480, will go to a new vocational high school to be constructed next year in Eastern Franklin County (Columbus).

Other districts and the amounts they will receive include Cleveland, $974,361; Tri-County Joint Vocational School District (Athens, Hocking, Perry counties), $704,012; Youngstown, $545,400; Lorain, $445,196. Dayton, Elyria and Akron are scheduled to divide $699,015 under priorities set up by the board last year.

In another action, the board authorized the creation of Moundbuilders Joint Vocational School District in Licking County.

Man, 73, Makes 16th Plea Before Board Of Parole

HUTTONSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — William Hollie Griffith, who has spent more than two-thirds of his life in prison, tries again for parole today.

Griffith, 73, makes his 16th appearance before the West Virginia Board of Probation and Parole.

Griffith was imprisoned at age 23 for killing a Braxton County law officer in 1915. He escaped six years later and was convicted of killing two men during his period of freedom.

Now the prison librarian, Griffith feels his good prison record since the escape should help him gain parole. He has saved about $15,000 from operation of a prison tailor shop.

A Calhoun County group has asked Gov. Hulett Smith to pardon Griffith so he can set up a garment factory at Grantsville, in an economically depressed area.

Shaffer's plan, which would request school districts to voluntarily commit themselves to centralized bus purchases, was tabled until the October meeting.

The state board also allocated $6,074,010 in federal school aid for construction of high school vocational educational facilities.

Ten school districts will divide up the funds from the Vocation Education Act of 1963. Largest amount, $14,423,480, will go to a new vocational high school to be constructed next year in Eastern Franklin County (Columbus).

Other districts and the amounts they will receive include Cleveland, $974,361; Tri-County Joint Vocational School District (Athens, Hocking, Perry counties), $704,012; Youngstown, $545,400; Lorain, $445,196. Dayton, Elyria and Akron are scheduled to divide $699,015 under priorities set up by the board last year.

In another action, the board authorized the creation of Moundbuilders Joint Vocational School District in Licking County.

Man, 73, Makes 16th Plea Before Board Of Parole

HUTTONSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — William Hollie Griffith, who has spent more than two-thirds of his life in prison, tries again for parole today.

Griffith, 73, makes his 16th appearance before the West Virginia Board of Probation and Parole.

Griffith was imprisoned at age 23 for killing a Braxton County law officer in 1915. He escaped six years later and was convicted of killing two men during his period of freedom.

Now the prison librarian, Griffith feels his good prison record since the escape should help him gain parole. He has saved about $15,000 from operation of a prison tailor shop.

A Calhoun County group has asked Gov. Hulett Smith to pardon Griffith so he can set up a garment factory at Grantsville, in an economically depressed area.

Wellsville Board OK's Increase In Salary Schedule

Salary increases for all teachers and non-certificated personnel were granted by the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

Teachers with two, three and four years training were granted $200-a-year increase, $300 was given to those with five years training and those holding a master's degree will receive $400.

Supt. Lowell Myers pointed out the new salary scales still will be $100 under the minimum established by the Ohio legislature for the 1966 year.

Non-teaching personnel received increases ranging from $100 to $200 a year, depending on the position.

THE INCREASES will cost $21,065 for certified teachers and administrators and $3,215 for other employes. Provided by the state, the board will receive $20,065 for the teachers, which is about $1,000 less than the raises granted.

Myers said an increase in enrollment will provide additional funds from the state which will make up the difference. The salary schedule was worked out with the salary committee of the Wellsville Teachers Association.

Raymond Rolley, clerk and purchasing agent, was granted a $400-a-year increase, conforming with the master's degree. Administrators receive the same increase as the teachers, according to the degree they have, plus a percentage above the standing schedule.

IN OTHER business, the board accepted the resignation of Charles A. McMillan as assistant basketball coach and hired four new instructors.

Raymond J. Rolley will be the new assistant basketball coach. He also will teach mathematics. His salary will be $5,425.

Andrew Roman was hired as a Latin instructor at a salary of $5,500. He studied in European schools and taught in Germany. Miss Abbie Harris, a former teacher at Beaver Local, was hired as an English teacher at a salary of $4,630 and Miss Marilyn Howard of Pittsburgh was hired to teach English at a salary of $4,300.

Seventeen persons were approved as substitute teachers for the school years. They are Miss Margaret Frischkorn, Mrs. Isabel Hart, Mrs. Twila Palmer, Mrs. Judith Dornick Miller, Mrs. Mary Alice Pugh, Mrs. Goldie McLaughlin, Mrs. Allene Galloway, Miss Alda Fowler, Mrs. Karen Brown, Mrs. Pauline Moore, Mrs. Evelyn Fraser, Miss Isa Anderson, Ford Ball, Mrs. Ruth McCoy, Mrs. Margaret Shoub, Mrs. Edna Brown and Donald Shertzinger.

WILLIAM MENOUGH, high school principal, was granted permission to attend the Ohio Secondary Principals convention Oct. 8-9 at Columbus and John Mackov, principal at MacDonald School, was given permission to attend an educators leadership conference at Columbus Oct. 6-8.

Myers said the enrollment in the systems stands at 1,889, an increase of two from last year. There were 1,856 the opening day of school.

He said there is room in the afternoon kindergarten class at Garfield for outside tuition students. Anyone interested should contact Samuel Linger, principal.

A letter of thanks was read from Miss Luella Thompson for the use of school facilities for the Wellsville High School Alumni Reunion held during the summer.

A letter was received from the Pennsylvania Railroad informing the board the railroad is not interested in selling property along Main St. between 12 and 14th St. The board had inquired about the land as a possible site for future building.

Myers said a new state law has gone into effect that will mean the school calendar for the year will have to be increased by two or four days.

Another calls for the establishment of vocational training by the 1966 term.

A UNITED drive will be held among the students to raise funds for five organizations instead of separate drives, he said. Another drive will be held to raise money for the Memorial Day parade in Wellsville.

Myers pointed out that if State Issue No. I passes at the November general election, it will provide Wellsville with $122,724 in additional operating funds. The issue would increase sales tax from three to four cents on the dollar. The amount the system would receive is equivalent to about 10 mills property tax, he said. The board already is on record favoring passage of the proposal.

The board discussed installation of ventilating fans in the dressing rooms at the football stadium.

William Ferrall, board member, suggested the board also consider purchase of a washer and drier to clean the uniforms.

The board authorized the purchase of a floor scrubber for the janitors.

A discussion was held on the need for supervision of children during the noon period at MacDonald School. Other schools also were considered.

Until a decision is reached, the board agreed to continue paying a dollar a day to a high school student to work at MacDonald during the noon period.

A discussion also was held on an editorial in the Wellsville Press urging the board to reconsider its decision to operate the system on daylight saving time until the end of October to conform with the city time. It was generally agreed the schools will continue to operate on fast time. Russell Dysert, president, said he favors returning to standard time at the end of September.

Daniel MacLean, another board member, said the city should be urged to install additional signs along the main thorofare to warn truckers of school zones.

Phillip Chronister and Jay Williams, candidates for the board, were guests.

The board held a caucus session with Fr. Gerald Curran of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church relative to transportation of parochial school students.

Campaign Plans Completed By Muscular Dystrophy Unit

Materials for the annual Columbiana County Muscular Dystrophy drive, starting Sunday, were distributed at a meeting of the unit Monday night at the former City Hall in East Palestine.

A house-to-house canvass will be held Sept. 26 as part of the drive, which will continue through Oct. 16.

The county goal is $8,456, Harry Martin of East Liverpool, president, said.

Area chairmen appointed by William Lowe of the Cannons Mills Rd., campaign chairman, include Mr. and Mrs. Martin for East Liverpool, Mrs. Alice Hawk and Harry Glavan for East Palestine; Harry Bowker for Salem; Atty. Jack Kuhlman for Columbiana; David Anderson High School Key Club for Lisbon; Mrs. Dorothy Roberts for the Y. & O. Rd. in Madison and Yellow Creek Townships.

Lowe said the rest of the chairmen will be selected and announced later this week.

Martin discussed the recent meeting at Columbus for MD groups from Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana and the patient service program in the county and national level.

Martin is scheduled to speak on the MD program over radio station WOHI Sept. 23 at 11 a. m

The next meeting will be Oct. 12 at Lisbon.

Land's Vacating Gets Approval Of Commissioners

LISBON — A petition for the vacating of a portion of land in St. Clair Township was approved Monday by the Columbiana County commissioners.

The commissioners approved a petition signed by Florence Kaminski and Robert Lorah asking the vacating of 98.7 feet of Swickard St. in the northeast corner of Section 30 of the township.

The signers of the petition said the street, which is immediately south of McDonald St., has been abandoned and not been in use for more than 21 years.

In other action, the commissioners approved a $20 travel allowance for County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge and three deputies to attend the Northeast Ohio County Treasurers Association meeting Wednesday in New Philadelphia.

Former Dancer's Free On Bond In Dope Conviction

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lillian Reis, known in professional dancing circles as Tiger Lil, was free on $5,000 appeal bond today after being convicted on six counts involving narcotics violations.

Judge Jack Turner sentenced the former dancer Monday to two years on each charge, with the terms to run concurrently.

Miss Reis, 36, mother of two daughters, faces a nonjury trial Friday on charges of illegal possession of drugs.

She also is free on appeal bond for a Pennsylvania conviction involving the theft of about $400,000 from the home of coal baron John B. Rich. Rich said the loss was about $20,000, mostly in jewels, but police placed it at the higher figure.

Japan Starts Wheels For 1970 World Fair

TOKYO (AP)—Japan started the wheels going today to make the 1970 World's Fair in Osaka a success.

The Japanese expect it will cost them nearly $3 billion.

The preparatory committee said the fair would run for six months from spring to autumn and more than 50 countries are expected to take part with more than 100 pavilions.

Campaign Plans Completed By Muscular Dystrophy Unit

Materials for the annual Columbiana County Muscular Dystrophy drive, starting Sunday, were distributed at a meeting of the unit Monday night at the former City Hall in East Palestine.

A house-to-house canvass will be held Sept. 26 as part of the drive, which will continue through Oct. 16.

The county goal is $8,456, Harry Martin of East Liverpool, president, said.

Area chairmen appointed by William Lowe of the Cannons Mills Rd., campaign chairman, include Mr. and Mrs. Martin for East Liverpool, Mrs. Alice Hawk and Harry Glavan for East Palestine; Harry Bowker for Salem; Atty. Jack Kuhlman for Columbiana; David Anderson High School Key Club for Lisbon; Mrs. Dorothy Roberts for the Y. & O. Rd. in Madison and Yellow Creek Townships.

Lowe said the rest of the chairmen will be selected and announced later this week.

Martin discussed the recent meeting at Columbus for MD groups from Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana and the patient service program in the county and national level.

Martin is scheduled to speak on the MD program over radio station WOHI Sept. 23 at 11 a. m

The next meeting will be Oct. 12 at Lisbon.

Land's Vacating Gets Approval Of Commissioners

LISBON — A petition for the vacating of a portion of land in St. Clair Township was approved Monday by the Columbiana County commissioners.

The commissioners approved a petition signed by Florence Kaminski and Robert Lorah asking the vacating of 98.7 feet of Swickard St. in the northeast corner of Section 30 of the township.

The signers of the petition said the street, which is immediately south of McDonald St., has been abandoned and not been in use for more than 21 years.

In other action, the commissioners approved a $20 travel allowance for County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge and three deputies to attend the Northeast Ohio County Treasurers Association meeting Wednesday in New Philadelphia.

Former Dancer's Free On Bond In Dope Conviction

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lillian Reis, known in professional dancing circles as Tiger Lil, was free on $5,000 appeal bond today after being convicted on six counts involving narcotics violations.

Judge Jack Turner sentenced the former dancer Monday to two years on each charge, with the terms to run concurrently.

Miss Reis, 36, mother of two daughters, faces a nonjury trial Friday on charges of illegal possession of drugs.

She also is free on appeal bond for a Pennsylvania conviction involving the theft of about $400,000 from the home of coal baron John B. Rich. Rich said the loss was about $20,000, mostly in jewels, but police placed it at the higher figure.

Japan Starts Wheels For 1970 World Fair

TOKYO (AP)—Japan started the wheels going today to make the 1970 World's Fair in Osaka a success.

The Japanese expect it will cost them nearly $3 billion.

The preparatory committee said the fair would run for six months from spring to autumn and more than 50 countries are expected to take part with more than 100 pavilions.

HOUSEHOLD ACCOUNT BOOK records to-the-penny the Barths' total electric living expense. "Our budget bill is set at $29 a month," says Mr. Barth, "and at year's end it always proves to be accurate within a dollar one way or the other—a big bargain when you consider all the ways we use so much electricity. We love our home and electricity helps keep it young."

"MY PRIDE AND JOY is this wonderful electric range," says Mrs. Barth. "I love to cook—especially when I can be so sure that every recipe will be perfect." The Barths' attractive 30-year-old home packs a lot of modern electrical living. In addition to heating and this deluxe range, they have an electric water heater, dryer, incinerator, freezer, second refrigerator—they even pump their own water, electrically.

PREFER ELECTRIC HEATING

It's Flameless!

"We've enjoyed our electric heat since 1958—eight years of perfect comfort and not one penny of maintenance expense. Electric heat is so quiet and clean and trouble free that we almost forget we've got it. With room-by-room temperature control we heat our five downstairs rooms all season long, and heat the two upstairs bedrooms only when we have guests. It's been seven years since we painted and papered—looks just like new!"

SAYS MR. BARTH, one of our 14,000 electric home heating customers.

All it costs for the Barths' TOTAL electric living ...including CLEAN ELECTRIC HOME HEATING is $29 a month!

'Prodigal Son' Returns, Receives $1 From Judge

Raymond (Sarge) Franklin, once the most frequent offender on intoxication charges on Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff's docket, was given an impromptu welcome home today when he turned up in the police court lineup for the first time in nearly three years.

When it was all over, Franklin was on his way again a free man, clasping a $1 bill which the judge gave from the bench, plus fervent wishes for continued sobriety.

Franklin explained to the judge he has been residing at a community mission in Akron since November 1963, holding a part-time job.

Police said he was taken into custody at 3:29 this morning on Market St., "highly intoxicated, shouting and begging money."

"There are not many of my old friends left," Franklin told the judge. "We used to pow-wow with a bottle behind a boxcar like a bunch of Indians, but most of them are gone now."

Franklin told the judge his application has been accepted by the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Sandusky.

When the judge indicated he intended to show leniency, Franklin replied: "I have given you a break for nearly three years; you didn't have me in court."

It was Franklin who named the City Jail the "Chertoff-Hilton" not long before he entered the mission.

The judge asked about Franklin's health, noted his improved physical appearance and asked if he had eaten breakfast. Franklin replied he lost his wallet in East Liverpool last night.

The judge reached under his black robes, dug into his trousers pocket and handed Franklin a $1 bill, warning him the money was to be spent for food, not wine.

He dismissed the intoxication charge on condition Franklin leaves town.

Man's Seized Inside Tavern

A city man who is on parole from a federal penitentiary and is under bond for armed robbery was captured inside a Wellsville tavern early this morning after he broke the front window to the establishment.

William Gerald Bowen, 23, of 732 Florence St. was being held in Wellsville jail until word is received from federal authorities relative to his parole status.

Bowen was taken into custody at 4:10 a. m. today inside the Hideaway Bar, 502 13th St., by Patrolman Charles Amato.

A neighbor heard glass break and spotted a man crawling through the front window. Police were notified. Amato was only a short distance away at the time.

When he arrived, he called through the broken window. Receiving no response, he crawled through the opening.

Amato then spotted a juke box at an odd angle to the wall and when he looked behind it he saw a man crouching. Bowen refused to come out when first ordered to do so, but moved when Amato to cocked his gun.

Amato found a claw hammer dropped by Bowen. Bowen had obtained an envelope containing about $25 in cash at the bar.

Police said Bowen had served time in a federal pen while in the Navy. He also is free under $1,000 bond on a charge of armed robbery in East Liverpool Aug. 13 and was among those indicted by the Grand Jury Monday.

If Bowen is not picked up by federal authorities, charges of breaking and entering "in the night season" will be filed against him in County Court at Lisbon.

Hancock Board Approves Sale Of Vacated Buildings

Several vacated school buildings were approved for sale at public auction during the meeting Monday night of the Hancock County Board of Education at the board offices in New Cumberland.

Donald Donell, attorney for the board, was authorized to begin preparations for selling the Chester Central, Chester Washington, Grandview, Weirton Elementary and Jefferson Rural school buildings.

RAYMOND E. Newbrough received the oath of office as a commissioner of the board. He will fill the position vacated by Francis Newbrough, who resigned to move to Florida, untill the time of the next regular election.

The requests of the following were granted:

E. Russell Slack, principal of Oak Glen High School, for the Oak Glen band to participate in the Steubenville community Christmas parade on Dec. 4; Hancock County Teachers Association, for Robert Wern, Mrs. Ruth Haynes, Mrs. Thelma Daugherty and Miss Betty Buben, teachers, to attend a leadership conference at Jacksons Mill Oct. 1-3.

Hancock County Education Association, for schools to close Oct. 14-15 in order for teachers to attend the West Virginia Education Association centennial celebration in Charleston; Weir High School band parents to use rooms in the Weir Junior High School Saturday during the cavalcade of bands; Dominic Amedeo, for the Weir High School band to participate at the West Liberty State College homecoming Oct. 23 and also to take part in the halftime show at the Wheeling Ironmen football game Oct. 31 at 8 p.m.

Slack, for the Oak Glen band to perform in the cavalcade of bands in Weirton Saturday at the Weir High School stadium, with seven bands participating; Liberty School Cub Pack 133, to use the Liberty School grounds Sept. 28 for a fair.

THE FOLLOWING teachers were employed: James A. Burcchio, band and music; Mrs. Margaret Brown, English; Mrs. Lillian T. Kennington, commercial, and John T. Grossi, mechanical drawing.

Coaching staffs for junior high schools were approved. Staffs will remain the same as last year, with the exception of Chester Junior High School, with Robert Koper new coach.

A building custodian, Wayne W. Kiger, and bus driver, Elbert M. Allison, were employed.

The board voted to obtain West Virginia workmen's compensation coverage for all school employes.

The next meeting will be Sept. 27.

'Prodigal Son' Returns, Receives $1 From Judge

Raymond (Sarge) Franklin, once the most frequent offender on intoxication charges on Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff's docket, was given an impromptu welcome home today when he turned up in the police court lineup for the first time in nearly three years.

When it was all over, Franklin was on his way again a free man, clasping a $1 bill which the judge gave from the bench, plus fervent wishes for continued sobriety.

Franklin explained to the judge he has been residing at a community mission in Akron since November 1963, holding a part-time job.

Police said he was taken into custody at 3:29 this morning on Market St., "highly intoxicated, shouting and begging money."

"There are not many of my old friends left," Franklin told the judge. "We used to pow-wow with a bottle behind a boxcar like a bunch of Indians, but most of them are gone now."

Franklin told the judge his application has been accepted by the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Sandusky.

When the judge indicated he intended to show leniency, Franklin replied: "I have given you a break for nearly three years; you didn't have me in court."

It was Franklin who named the City Jail the "Chertoff-Hilton" not long before he entered the mission.

The judge asked about Franklin's health, noted his improved physical appearance and asked if he had eaten breakfast. Franklin replied he lost his wallet in East Liverpool last night.

The judge reached under his black robes, dug into his trousers pocket and handed Franklin a $1 bill, warning him the money was to be spent for food, not wine.

He dismissed the intoxication charge on condition Franklin leaves town.

Police said Bowen had served time in a federal pen while in the Navy. He also is free under $1,000 bond on a charge of armed robbery in East Liverpool Aug. 13 and was among those indicted by the Grand Jury Monday.

If Bowen is not picked up by federal authorities, charges of breaking and entering "in the night season" will be filed against him in County Court at Lisbon.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

More Unrest Grows On The Ponderosa

The world's most popular TV series, NBC's long-running "Bonanza," has a grumbling, restive star again. Ennui has engulfed big Dan Blocker. He is as bored as you can get while earning $10,000 a week.

Richard Doan

The former school teacher, cotton picker and amateur fighter who plays "Hoss" in the top-rated Western unburdened himself in an interview with a Hollywood trade paper reporter.

Blocker called himself "a true prostitute," because, he said, "now I'm doing it (the role) for the money."

BLOCKER did not go so far as to say he would try to get out of his contract, however, and a top NBC information official in New York, who said "the whole thing" was news to officials here, reported the network had no indication that the actor wanted to quit.

Pernell Roberts, who played Hoss' brother Adam for six years, was a thorn in NBC's side for a long time, complaining publicly over his boredom, and finally reached a mutual agreement with network officials to leave the cast as of the end of this past season. He is not being replaced.

In contrast, Lorne Greene, who portrays the patriarchial Ben Cartwright, has often gone out of his way in interviews to insist he is completely happy in his role.

MICHAEL LANDON, costarred as "little Joe," hasn't made any particular noises.

"Bonanza" is so widely distributed around the world that it has been estimated as many as 300 million persons weekly watch it — a claim no other TV entertainment can make.

TV industry and Madison Avenue experts are unanimous in predicting that the NBC show again will be No. 1 in the Nielsen ratings this fall. The first episode of the new season was shown Sunday.

Elaborating on his battle with the doldrums, Blocker told his interviewer, "I like the character (of Hoss), but I am tired of him. It gets to be boring, playing the same character day in, day out . . . (but) it beats picking cotton or teaching school for a living."

HE SAID he had had to turn down offers of roles in such movies as "Stagecoach" and "The Great Race" because his "Bonanza" chores leave him too little time for such additional acting stints.

He reported he was offered a host role on a Ringling Bros. circus special for NBC but turned it down because the money wasn't enough.

NBC sources say privately they are accustomed to grumbling stars and won't get alarmed unless Blocker gets to angling to quit the show.

THE FAIR Campaign Practices Committee, headed by Cincinnati lawyer Charles Taft, is about to announce plans for a two-day Washington conference next month aimed at attempting to assess the growing impact of television on political campaigns.

Key government, congressional and broadcasting industry figures will participate, including Federal Communications Commission Chairman E. William Henry; former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger; Rep. Walter Rogers, D.-Tex., a legislative watchdog over radio-TV, ano former CBS-TV President Louis Cowan.

A "keynote" address at the opening of the conference on Oct. 13 will be made by ABC newsman Howard K. Smith. Julian Goodman, vice president of NBC News, and Dr. Joseph T. Klapper, a CBS research expert, are booked for talks.

TAFT SAID in soliciting broadcaster participating in the conference that the political and TV communities "normally get excited about the problems and potentials of political broadcasting just before election time.

"We think there is a real need to bring thoughtful leaders from these and unrelated fields together to talk and listen to each other now — three years in advance of the next presidential election."

A foundation, not yet identified, is underwriting part of the cost of the conference.

New Hope Makes Dieting Rewarding

To any overweight who feels she is beyond hope, today's column is for you. The dieter in today's story is singing a new song, and her whole heart is in the singing. After 10 years of trial and failure, she is now succeeding.

Ida Jean Kain

"Every fad diet that came along . . . I tried it. At first I was wildly hopeful about reducing on the low-carbohydrate diet, unrestricted in calories. But after three weeks I started to gain on it. . .

—:—

"I AM 36 years old, and for the past 10 years I have weighed 365 pounds! If I stayed on a diet for two whole days it was surprising. Finally, two years ago, in desperation, I joined the TOPS Club. Here at last, I thought, was my miracle. I guess I just expected the fat to melt off with no trouble. I had managed to lose 15 pounds before joining TOPS. Then in one and a half years I lost 30 pounds. But I did it by the stuff and starve plan. . .stuff three days, starve four days. How frustrating!

"Finally, in April, I made up my mind that the best part of my life was passing me by. I was ashamed to go anywhere. Since then, with the help of my fine doctor and my wonderful pals in TOPS, I'm making the grade.

"My meals consist of lean meat, vegetables, one slice of bread a day, one glass of skim milk, one fruit. I have lost 60 pounds, in addition to the 30 pounds. My doctor gave me this tip — to eat my biggest meal at noon and to eat lightly at night. If I get hungry, a diet soft drink is wonderful.

"I FIX MY family's meal at night, and I go into the living room to read the paper and have my small meal. My terrific craving for sweets is gone. I would much rather have a serving of lean meat and a salad.

"I have exercised every day . . .swimming and bike riding, plus calisthenics. My children (three) think they have a new mother. I have never felt better in my life! I still have over 100 pounds to lose, but with God's help, TOPS, the doctor and my family rooting for me, how can I fail?

"A verse in the Bible has helped me wonderfully — I Corinthians, 10:13, 'God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able.'

"HERE ARE MY measurement changes: Bust 60, now 51; waist 58, now 41; hips 70, now 56. I'll let you all know my future measurement changes.

"I have written this to you in hopes it will help someone who feels she is beyond help. Your column is great! By the way, I write down every bit of food I eat . . . that helps, too."

With that kind of courage, how can she fail? The reason this reducer no longer craves sweets is that she is on low-carbohydrate and is no longer overstimulating the production of insulin. She is losing because her diet is high in protein, to control hunger, and low in fat, to curb calories. No small part of her success is due to her daily exercise.

We will be eager to hear from this dieter - extraordinary periodically.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Eat To Build Leanness and Away With Middle Spread. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Highway Patrol Probing Alleged Auto Theft Ring

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol, investigating what is believed to be a large interstate car theft ring, has arrested a 29-year-old Stow man for automobile title violations.

The man was arrested Monday in the Geauga County Clerk of Courts office, where he applied for an Ohio auto title using fictitious New York State documents.

The patrol said stolen cars have been brought in from states.

The ring, which has been under surveillance for six months, operated mainly in Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga, Summit and Portage counties, the patrol reported.

3 Enter Applications For Sewage Plant Job

Three men filed applications before the deadline Saturday to take a test for sewage plant operator which the Municipal Civil Service Commission will give Monday at 7:30 p. m. at City Hall.

The commission probably will meet sometime this week to screen the applications, P. K. Calhoon, clerk, said.

The test is being conducted to establish an eligibility list to fill a vacancy at the sewage disposal plant on W. 4th St. Ext. The post pays $430 a month.

Four Democrats Seek Mayor Bid In New York Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — New York voters select a Democratic nominee for mayor today, ending a drought-dry primary campaign that could get an election-day drenching.

The four contenders could find few issues, and the toughest battle often seemed how to avoid being overshadowed by the Republican opposition.

The Democratic choice is among City Council President Paul R. Screvane, Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, Rep. William F. Ryan and Councilman Paul O'Dwyer.

Showers were predicted for the morning, but the Weather Bureau said the rain should end before the polls open at 3 p.m.

The unopposed Republican candidate is Rep. John V. Lindsay, who also captured the coveted Liberal party backing. He is regarded as the most formidable Republican contender since the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia.

William R. Drain, Robert Spears and Tony Frank were approved for membership and James Dagan and Carl Ward were obligated as new members.

Vincent McGeehan, first vice commander, announced 152 members have been enrolled for next year.

Densil McKinney reported on the County Council meeting Friday night at Leetonia. James Cregar reported on the national convention in Portland, Ore., and said the 1966 convention will be held in Washington.

Donations were made to the Child Counseling Center, Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Columbus and the Blue and White Nonpareil Club.

Ben Wright was named "Legionnaire of the Week" and was presented two tickets to the East Liverpool - Midland football game this Friday.

Jim Ferguson and George Noble screened slides provided by the Elks Lodge on Americanism. Luke Cadman of Midland Post 481 was a guest.

A financial report was read by Paul Beck, finance officer. McKinney gave the opening and closing prayers.

Oyster stew was served by Tad Galloway and committee.

Midland School Board Sets Up Bus Program

Private and parochial school students of Midland Heights will be accorded the same transportation facilities as those in the public school system under a program outlined by the Midland Board of Education.

At a meeting Monday night at the high school, the board voted to pay 58.8 per cent of the transportation cost, with parents responsible for the remaining 41.2 per cent.

Six teachers and two clerks were named to positions in the Midland School District during the meeting. Appointed to teaching assignments were Mrs. Recca M. Shinaberry, 1st St. kindergarten; R. Allan Colledge, mathematics, James Perkins, high school chemistry and physics, Vincent J. Conzal, high school business education, William J. Hokman, high school mathematics, and Mrs. Marianne Elko, part-time home economics.

The new clerks are Miss Mary Ann Kazman, superintendent's office, and Miss Patricia Granito, high school.

The financial report showed a balance in all accounts of $79,438.75, with $76,183.95 reported collected on the 1965 tax duplicate. Cash receipts for deposit were $62.50.

Recommendation for the payment of $19,300.79 in general bills was approved by the board.

Other business included approval of the purchase of a book list for the Public Library at a cost of $295.85 and the awarding of industrial arts supplies to five companies at the cost of $920.

The board also authorized use of the gymnasium on Monday and Thursday evenings by the Midland Junior Women's Club for physical education casses.

Two teacher resignations were accepted. Resigning at the high school were Nickolas R. Kernich and Joseph R. Klemmer.

OSU's Trustees Might Consider Speaker's Rule

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Trustees of Ohio State University were to meet here today amid speculation the off campus session would include further consideration of the university's controversial speaker's rule.

No agenda was announced for the meeting at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, but university President Novice G. Fawcett said the issue might come up.

The rule banning Communists and known subversives has been under attack for several years, primarily among students who call it a "gag" rule and a restriction on freedom of speech.

Scheduled to attend his first meeting as a trustee was James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike Commission chairman named to the board since it's last meeting.

Shocknessy has not said publicly how he feels on the controversial issue. The board last July rejected by a vote of 5-3 a proposed modification of the rule.

Wife Pleads Guilty To Shooting Husband

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Clarence Herron, 54, who told authorities she shot her husband in self defense with a .22-caliber rifle, has pleaded guilty to manslaughter in Lake County Common Pleas Court.

Judge Robert L. Simmons delayed sentencing pending a probation report. The shooting occurred May 27 in a motel. Mrs. Herron was released on $10,000 bond Monday while awaiting sentence.

Land Crabs Menace To Florida Motorists

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It's migration time for land crabs and hundreds of motorists have found it out — through punctured tires.

Thousands of the ugly crabs, which live mainly on land and breed in the sea, crawled on roads near the ocean, proving a menace to motorists.

A service station owner reported servicing 20 cars with crab claws stuck in tire treads. Another said a crab can sink his claw through a new three-eighths inch tread.

"An old, worn-down tread is child's play for a crab," a service station manager said.

Jury Set For First Civil Rights Trials

CINCINNATI (AP)—A jury of five men and seven women has been chosen for the first of the jury trials asked by 16 persons arrested during a civil rights demonstration July 26.

Testimony was to start today in the trial of Robert Weaver, 22, charged with assault and battery for allegedly kicking a policeman who pulled him from under a patrol wagon.

The 16 were arrested at the construction site of East Avondale Elementary School. They were protesting alleged racial discrimination by Cincinnati building trades unions.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

More Unrest Grows On The Ponderosa

The world's most popular TV series, NBC's long-running "Bonanza," has a grumbling, restive star again. Ennui has engulfed big Dan Blocker. He is as bored as you can get while earning $10,000 a week.

Richard Doan

The former school teacher, cotton picker and amateur fighter who plays "Hoss" in the top-rated Western unburdened himself in an interview with a Hollywood trade paper reporter.

Blocker called himself "a true prostitute," because, he said, "now I'm doing it (the role) for the money."

BLOCKER did not go so far as to say he would try to get out of his contract, however, and a top NBC information official in New York, who said "the whole thing" was news to officials here, reported the network had no indication that the actor wanted to quit.

Pernell Roberts, who played Hoss' brother Adam for six years, was a thorn in NBC's side for a long time, complaining publicly over his boredom, and finally reached a mutual agreement with network officials to leave the cast as of the end of this past season. He is not being replaced.

In contrast, Lorne Greene, who portrays the patriarchial Ben Cartwright, has often gone out of his way in interviews to insist he is completely happy in his role.

MICHAEL LANDON, costarred as "little Joe," hasn't made any particular noises.

"Bonanza" is so widely distributed around the world that it has been estimated as many as 300 million persons weekly watch it — a claim no other TV entertainment can make.

TV industry and Madison Avenue experts are unanimous in predicting that the NBC show again will be No. 1 in the Nielsen ratings this fall. The first episode of the new season was shown Sunday.

Elaborating on his battle with the doldrums, Blocker told his interviewer, "I like the character (of Hoss), but I am tired of him. It gets to be boring, playing the same character day in, day out . . . (but) it beats picking cotton or teaching school for a living."

HE SAID he had had to turn down offers of roles in such movies as "Stagecoach" and "The Great Race" because his "Bonanza" chores leave him too little time for such additional acting stints.

He reported he was offered a host role on a Ringling Bros. circus special for NBC but turned it down because the money wasn't enough.

NBC sources say privately they are accustomed to grumbling stars and won't get alarmed unless Blocker gets to angling to quit the show

THE FAIR Campaign Practices Committee, headed by Cincinnati lawyer Charles Taft, is about to announce plans for a two-day Washington conference next month aimed at attempting to assess the growing impact of television on political campaigns.

Key government, congressional and broadcasting industry figures will participate, including Federal Communications Commission Chairman E. William Henry; former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger; Rep. Walter Rogers, D.-Tex., a legislative watchdog over radio-TV, ano former CBS-TV President Louis Cowan.

A "keynote" address at the opening of the conference on Oct. 13 will be made by ABC newsman Howard K. Smith. Julian Goodman, vice president of NBC News, and Dr. Joseph T. Klapper, a CBS research expert, are booked for talks.

TAFT SAID in soliciting broadcaster participating in the conference that the political and TV communities "normally get excited about the problems and potentials of political broadcasting just before election time.

"We think there is a real need to bring thoughtful leaders from these and unrelated fields together to talk and listen to each other now — three years in advance of the next presidential election."

A foundation, not yet identified, is underwriting part of the cost of the conference.

New Hope Makes Dieting Rewarding

To any overweight who feels she is beyond hope, today's column is for you. The dieter in today's story is singing a new song, and her whole heart is in the singing. After 10 years of trial and failure, she is now succeeding.

Ida Jean Kain

"Every fad diet that came along . . . I tried it. At first I was wildly hopeful about reducing on the low-carbohydrate diet, unrestricted in calories. But after three weeks I started to gain on it. . .

—:—

"I AM 36 years old, and for the past 10 years I have weighed 365 pounds! If I stayed on a diet for two whole days it was surprising. Finally, two years ago, in desperation, I joined the TOPS Club. Here at last, I thought, was my miracle. I guess I just expected the fat to melt off with no trouble. I had managed to lose 15 pounds before joining TOPS. Then in one and a half years I lost 30 pounds. But I did it by the stuff and starve plan. . .stuff three days, starve four days. How frustrating!

"Finally, in April, I made up my mind that the best part of my life was passing me by. I was ashamed to go anywhere. Since then, with the help of my fine doctor and my wonderful pals in TOPS, I'm making the grade.

"My meals consist of lean meat, vegetables, one slice of bread a day, one glass of skim milk, one fruit. I have lost 60 pounds, in addition to the 30 pounds. My doctor gave me this tip — to eat my biggest meal at noon and to eat lightly at night. If I get hungry, a diet soft drink is wonderful.

"I FIX MY family's meal at night, and I go into the living room to read the paper and have my small meal. My terrific craving for sweets is gone. I would much rather have a serving of lean meat and a salad.

"I have exercised every day . . .swimming and bike riding, plus calisthenics. My children (three) think they have a new mother. I have never felt better in my life! I still have over 100 pounds to lose, but with God's help, TOPS, the doctor and my family rooting for me, how can I fail?

"A verse in the Bible has helped me wonderfully — I Corinthians, 10:13, 'God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able.'

"HERE ARE MY measurement changes: Bust 60, now 51; waist 58, now 41; hips 70, now 56. I'll let you all know my future measurement changes.

"I have written this to you in hopes it will help someone who feels she is beyond help. Your column is great! By the way, I write down every bit of food I eat . . . that helps, too."

With that kind of courage, how can she fail? The reason this reducer no longer craves sweets is that she is on low-carbohydrate and is no longer overstimulating the production of insulin. She is losing because her diet is high in protein, to control hunger, and low in fat, to curb calories. No small part of her success is due to her daily exercise.

We will be eager to hear from this dieter - extraordinary periodically.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Eat To Build Leanness and Away With Middle Spread. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Highway Patrol Probing Alleged Auto Theft Ring

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol, investigating what is believed to be a large interstate car theft ring, has arrested a 29-year-old Stow man for automobile title violations.

The man was arrested Monday in the Geauga County Clerk of Courts office, where he applied for an Ohio auto title using fictitious New York State documents.

An office employe, who had been alerted to operations of the alleged ring, notofied the Highway Patrol.

The patrol said stolen cars have been brought in from states.

The ring, which has been under surveillance for six months, operated mainly in Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga, Summit and Portage counties, the patrol reported.

3 Enter Applications For Sewage Plant Job

Three men filed applications before the deadline Saturday to take a test for sewage plant operator which the Municipal Civil Service Commission will give Monday at 7:30 p. m. at City Hall.

The commission probably will meet sometime this week to screen the applications, P. K. Calhoon, clerk, said.

The test is being conducted to establish an eligibility list to fill a vacancy at the sewage disposal plant on W. 4th St. Ext. The post pays $430 a month.

St. Clairsville Man Killed In Collision

POWHATAN POINT, Ohio (AP)—A St. Clairsville man died early today when his car crashed headon with a truck just south of here on Ohio 7.

Killed was 22-year-old Robert Morgan Barr. The Highway patrol said his car was left of center. The truck driver was not injured.

Four Democrats Seek Mayor Bid In New York Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — New York voters select a Democratic nominee for mayor today, ending a drought-dry primary campaign that could get an election-day drenching.

The four contenders could find few issues, and the toughest battle often seemed how to avoid being overshadowed by the Republican opposition.

The Democratic choice is among City Council President Paul R. Screvane, Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, Rep. William F. Ryan and Councilman Paul O'Dwyer.

Showers were predicted for the morning, but the Weather Bureau said the rain should end before the polls open at 3 p.m.

The unopposed Republican candidate is Rep. John V. Lindsay, who also captured the coveted Liberal party backing. He is regarded as the most formidable Republican contender since the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia.

Oscar Seeks Bigger Pay With Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Basketball star Oscar Robertson said if he doesn't get a new contract with a raise he may end his career with the Cincinnati Royals.

"If I can't get my contract, I don't intend to play here," Robertson said. "I feel this is what I have to do."

Robertson said Monday he will not report for the Royals preseason practice, which begins today, until he gets a salary increase. He reportedly was paid around $60,000 last year.

Robertson said, "There is a stalemate in our negotiations and the way things stand now, I intend to be a holdout."

The National Basketball Association star said he was offered the same contract he had last year. Robertson said he has "taken note" of the huge salaries given Bill Russell of Boston and Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, "but that really doesn't have any bearing as to what I think I'm worth to the Royals."

Reports said Russell signed for $100,001 after Chamberlain got a contract calling for $100,000.

Oscar said he learned the Royals have a new radio contract worth more money and advance ticket sales are ahead of last year, "but they keep telling me they can't pay me telling me they can't pay me any more money."

Robertson has been one of the top stars of the NBA since he graduated from the University of Cincinnati. He was named to the NBA All-Star Team last year for the fifth time.

2½ Game Margin Biggest In Month

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

500 plus 22 plus 11 equals 2½.

And that's the largest lead any National League team has had in a month.

The San Francisco Giants continued opening up the once-hectic race Monday night, defeating Houston 5-1 behind Willie Mays and Juan Marichal and moving 2½ games in front of the idle Los Angeles Dodgers.

Mays clouted the 500th home run of his major league career while Marichal gained his 22nd victory of the season. Combined, they sparked the Giants to their 11th consecutive triumph, one less than the longest winning streak in the majors this year.

The home run for Mays, his 47th this season, came at the start of the fourth inning on a 3-1 pitch from Don Nottebart. It tied the game 1-1 and triggered a four-run rally that put San Francisco ahead to stay.

After Mays drove his homer into the center field stands — he hit the first in his career in 1951 against Warren Spahn in New York's Polo Grounds — his teammates mobbed him and congratulated him. Then they went out and secured the victory for Marichal.

It was the third in four decisions for the 26-year-old righthander since he was suspended eight days for hitting catcher John Roseboro of Los Angeles on the head with a bat.

Marichal, who has lost 10 games, was booed by the Houston fans, but that didn't bother him as he scattered eight hits, tying Sandy Koufax as the winningest pitcher in the majors, completing his 24th game and reducing his stingy earned run average to 1.79.

In the only other NL games, Pittsburgh dropped Cincinnati 3½ games behind by winning 8-4 and Philadelphia edged Milwaukee 4-3, sending the Braves five back.

The only scheduled American League game, Cleveland at Baltimore, was rained out.

Vernon Law gave up four runs on three hits, including Deron Johnson's two-run homer, in the first inning but held the Reds to only three hits the rest of the way. He wound up winning his 17th game against nine defeats while Sammy Ellis dropped his ninth game against 19 victories.

Willie Stargell sparked the Pirates' comeback, driving in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly. Gene Alley contributed a homer, a double and a single.

Clay Dalrymple's seventh-inning homer snapped a 3-3 deadlock and gave the Phillies their fifth straight triumph. Philadelphia tied the game with two runs in the fifth off Milwaukee's Ken Johnson, Dalrymple walked with the bases loaded, forcing in the tying run.

Kinsey Captures Club Golf Event

Dr. R. J. Kinsey scored 24 points and won the par - birdie-eagle contest Saturday at the Country Club.

Ron Kinsey was next with 20 while Dr. J. J. Laneve had 19 and Bob Goodman, J. T. Smith and Bob Patterson finished with 18 each.

Paul Tobin won the second division with 24 points.

The men's final golf event will be staged Sept. 25, a best ball of four contest. Members are requested to sign up for this event.

Mays Doubts He'll Better Ruth's Record

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Willie Mays collected only one hit Monday night gainst the Astros.

"It was a fast ball," the San Francisco Giants' star said, "and I thought I hit it good."

Pretty good. It dropped into the center field seats about 410 feet from home plate — Willie's 500th home run in his major league career.

It was Willie's 47th four-bagger this year.

"I wasn't even looking to get 500 this year, to tell you the truth," Willie said after the game.

Did he know he was only 11 short of Mel Ott's National League record?

"Sure, I know that."

When did he check it?

"I don't have to check on it. I just know it."

He then proceeded to rattle off the career home run records of Jimmy Foxx, 534, and Ted Williams, 526, and the king of them all, Babe Ruth, 714.

"I'll have to average 40 a year to catch up with that guy (Ruth)," said Willie, who is 34. "I don't think I can do it."

Mrs. Robert Bowersock and Mrs. Arthur Doak finished with 57 for low gross while Mrs. William Sulkes and Mrs. Arthur Doak had 37 each for low net.

Mrs. J. T. Smith won the putting with 17.

Roster Cuts Due Today

Injuries, Cutdowns Rank As Chief Concern In NFL

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Casualties and cutdowns are among today's prime pro football topics.

Several stars are on the National Football League's latest casualty list with injuries and ailments serious enough to keep them sidelined at least through next Sunday's opening action.

Included on that list are Gail Cogdill, the Detroit Lions' fine pass receiver; defensive back Lonnie Sanders of the Washington Redskins; linebacker Larry Stallings and defensive back Abe Woodson of the St. Louis Cardinals; and pass catcher Bucky Pope and defensive end Lamar Lundy of the Los Angeles Rams.

Final roster cutdowns — the toughest to make — come today for the NFL teams, down to the regular season limit of 40 players.

Cogdill suffered a fractured right kneecap in the Lions' exhibition game against the Redskins Sunday and will be idled five or six weeks. Sanders will be out the same length of time with a broken right forearm received in the same game. Washington linebacker Bob Pellegrini pulled a groin muscle against the Lions, making him doubtful for Sunday's opener against Cleveland.

Stallings and Woodson both were racked up in the Cards' battle against Green Bay last Saturday night. Stallings will be out indefinitely with torn ligaments in his left knee and Woodson, a kick return specialist as well as defensive back, is expected to miss three or four weeks with a dislocated shoulder.

Pope and rookie defensive back Clancy Williams have knee troubles, while Lundy is recuperating from a minor kidney operation. The Rams will be without all three in Sunday's game against Detroit.

The New York Giants trimmed to 40 players Monday by cutting three men and adding one. They dropped veteran defensive back Allan Webb along with two rookies, defensive end Frank McClendon and tackle Dave Powless, and picked up defensive tackle Roger LaLonde, cut by the Lions.

Dallas also got down to 40 men, releasing defensive back Ernie Kellerman, while San Francisco dropped to 41 by cutting defensive back Bobby Waters and linebacker Floyd Dean.

The Pittsburgh Steelers signed defensive tackle Riley Gunnels, a six-year pro placed on waivers by Philadelphia.

Patterson, Clay Expected To Square Off On Nov. 22

NEW YORK (AP) — The title fight between heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and former two-time champion Floyd Patterson is expected to be made official today for Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 22.

Announcement of the date and site will be made at an afternoon press conference at a midtown restaurant, press agent Harold Conrad said Monday.

"Clay will be there along with some members of the Louisville group that sponsors him, Jim Deskin of Las Vegas, the newly-elected president of the World Boxing Association and other principals," said Conrad.

Conrad, who handled press, promotion and other details for Inter-Continental Sports, Inc., in the past, said he will represent several groups at the conference.

Inter-Continental, which promoted the fiasco at Lewiston, Maine, last May 25 when Clay flattened former champion Sonny Liston with one punch, apparently is going to co-promote the Clay-Patterson fight with Al Bolan, one of Patterson's advisors.

Eastern Division Clubs Hit Hard With Injuries

CLEVELAND (AP) — The casualty picture for the top three contenders in the Eastern Division of the National Football League is starting to look like the portrait of the Spirit of '76. All three teams have walking wounded.

Here's the latest first aid report:

Cleveland Browns — The defending NFL champs lost flanker Paul Warfield in their first exhibition game. Then Clifton McNeil, Warfield's replacement, was shacked on the knee last Saturday in Akron and will be on the bench when the Browns play the Washington Redskins Sunday.

Washington — Defensive back Lonnie Sanders suffered a broken right forearm against the Detroit Lions Sunday in Canton and will be out for a month. Linebacker Bob Pellegrini has a severely pulled groin muscle and halfback George Hughley has a bruised shoulder. Hughley, however, is expected to play.

St. Louis Cardinals — The Cards lost linebacker Larry Stallings in an exhibition with Green Bay. He suffered torn knee ligaments and may be sidelined the rest of the year.

Defensive back and kickoff specialist Abe Woodson dislocated a shoulder and will be absent three to four weeks.

Arfons Race Car Ready To Seek Record

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The race car Walt Arfons said he always dreamed of building is ready to roar across the Utah salt flats next week in a rocket-powered assault on the world land speed record.

The 48-year-old Arfons, who has built five racers over the last 15 years, would like to be driving. But a heart condition will prevent his being at the controls of the blue, needle-nosed speedster he began building last March and showed off Monday at Akron-Canton Airport.

In a trial run slightly under a mile, the Wingfoot Express used only two of its 15 JATA solid fuel rockets. That got it up to 120 miles an hour, said Bobby Tatroe, 28, who was at the controls. Tatroe, of Grand Rapids, Mich., will drive the rocket racer across the Bonneville salt flats in tests starting next Sunday.

When all 15 rockets are fired, Arfons said, 28,800 horsepower will propell the 6,500-pound racer at 750 miles an hour only 21 seconds after the first two rockets blast off in the sequence firing.

"The 536.71 miles an hour record set by Art is our immediate goal," Arfons said, referring to the mark his brother posted last year in a jet-powered car.

Announcement of the date and site will be made at an afternoon press conference at a midtown restaurant, press agent Harold Conrad said Monday.

"Clay will be there along with some members of the Louisville group that sponsors him, Jim Deskin of Las Vegas, the newly-elected president of the World Boxing Association and other principals," said Conrad.

Conrad, who handled press, promotion and other details for Inter-Continental Sports, Inc., in the past, said he will represent several groups at the conference.

Inter-Continental, which promoted the fiasco at Lewiston, Maine, last May 25 when Clay flattened former champion Sonny Liston with one punch, apparently is going to co-promote the Clay-Patterson fight with Al Bolan, one of Patterson's advisors.

Eastern Division Clubs Hit Hard With Injuries

CLEVELAND (AP) — The casualty picture for the top three contenders in the Eastern Division of the National Football League is starting to look like the portrait of the Spirit of '76. All three teams have walking wounded.

Here's the latest first aid report:

Cleveland Browns — The defending NFL champs lost flanker Paul Warfield in their first exhibition game. Then Clifton McNeil, Warfield's replacement, was shacked on the knee last Saturday in Akron and will be on the bench when the Browns play the Washington Redskins Sunday.

Washington — Defensive back Lonnie Sanders suffered a broken right forearm against the Detroit Lions Sunday in Canton and will be out for a month. Linebacker Bob Pellegrini has a severely pulled groin muscle and halfback George Hughley has a bruised shoulder. Hughley, however, is expected to play.

St. Louis Cardinals — The Cards lost linebacker Larry Stallings in an exhibition with Green Bay. He suffered torn knee ligaments and may be sidelined the rest of the year.

Defensive back and kickoff specialist Abe Woodson dislocated a shoulder and will be absent three to four weeks.

Arfons Race Car Ready To Seek Record

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The race car Walt Arfons said he always dreamed of building is ready to roar across the Utah salt flats next week in a rocket-powered assault on the world land speed record.

The 48-year-old Arfons, who has built five racers over the last 15 years, would like to be driving. But a heart condition will prevent his being at the controls of the blue, needle-nosed speedster he began building last March and showed off Monday at Akron-Canton Airport.

In a trial run slightly under a mile, the Wingfoot Express used only two of its 15 JATA solid fuel rockets. That got it up to 120 miles an hour, said Bobby Tatroe, 28, who was at the controls. Tatroe, of Grand Rapids, Mich., will drive the rocket racer across the Bonneville salt flats in tests starting next Sunday.

When all 15 rockets are fired, Arfons said, 28,800 horsepower will propell the 6,500-pound racer at 750 miles an hour only 21 seconds after the first two rockets blast off in the sequence firing.

"The 536.71 miles an hour record set by Art is our immediate goal," Arfons said, referring to the mark his brother posted last year in a jet-powered car.

AFL Votes To Expand To 10 Teams By 1967

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League owners have voted to expand the league to 10 teams in 1967, and indicated they will add two more teams in 1968 and 1969.

The 10th team probably will be selected from among Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Milwaukee and Washington, AFL Commissioner Joe Foss told newsmen Monday after a meeting of the owners.

"The sentiment I got from the owners," Foss said, "was we can go to 12 teams. Expansion beyond the 10th team definitely is contemplated."

A strong supporter of expansion, Foss apparently got the owners to go down the line on his recommendations.

If the league is increased to 12 teams by 1969, it will mean a jump of four teams in four years.

Last July the owners voted to grant the league's ninth franchise to Miami.

Co-owners of the Miami club are comedian Danny Thomas and Joe Robbie. Robbie met with the other owners Monday as they formally extended and he formally accepted — for a reported $7½ million — the franchise.

The league also voted Monday to change the format for its All-Star game. Instead of pitting the All-Stars of its Eastern Division against the All-Stars of the Western Division, they will have the championship club play the All-Stars from all the other clubs. No site for the next All-Star game has been selected.

Tighter Controls Ordered For Contests At Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—City and school officials have announced night football games will continue in Hamilton but with tighter controls.

The announcement came Monday shortly after police reported the arrest of an 18-year-old youth in connection with the shooting Friday night of a Garfield High School player.

Recent incidents of violence and rowdyism had led officials to consider banning night games.

City and school officials met together and decided upon these recommendations:

—Routing of pupils from the games over streets on which troubles is less likely to occur.

—Asking parents to attend games with their children.

—Asking teachers to ride patrol with police after games to identify any youngsters who might cause trouble.

—Asking four policemen employed by Garfield to stay on duty an hour longer after games.

Police reported the arrest of Raymond Wyatt of Hamilton, who was charged with shooting with intent to kill. Detective Lt. Harold Carpenter said Wyatt admitted firing a shotgun blast Friday night following the Garfield-Cincinnati Colerain game. A Garfield cocaptain, Ronnie Sutton, 17, was hit by birdshot in his back and legs.

Sutton said he and about eight friends, and Negroes, were confronted by a group of whites. Sutton ran and the shotgun was fired. Wyatt said it was accidental, police reported.

Heat Spoils Practice In Amateur Golf

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A blazing Oklahoma sun boiled the starch out of Briton's challenge in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championships and left the English bulldog a bit droopy and bedraggled today going into the final practice rounds.

Even the dogs had deserted the rolling, 6,917 yards of the Southern Hills Country Club when a wilting, once-favored band of Englishmen trudged through their last practice session in record 103-degree temperatures.

"If the weather stays like this, you can count us out," Joe Carr, captain of the British Walker Cup team, said Monday.

The 65th National Championships open on the par 35-36—71 layout Wednesday under a new format — medal instead of match play. Four rounds of 18 holes each are scheduled through Saturday, with a field of 150 cut to the low 60 and ties after Thursday's second round. Continued hot weather is forecast.

The British challenge appeared to be the strongest since the 1930s after their surprising tie with this country's best in the Walker Cup matches at Baltimore two weeks ago.

In fact, figuring that the winner almost certainly will come from the Walker Cuppers — either British or American — the English appeared to have a 50 per cent chance of taking it.

Not so, says Carr.

"Your chaps may be used to this heat. We're not."

BATTING — Willie Mays, San Francisco, became the fifth player in major league history to hit 500 home runs, clouting his 47th of the season and igniting a four-run rally that powered the National League-leading Giants to their 11th straight victory, a 5-1 decision over Houston.

PITCHING — Juan Marichal, San Francisco, scattered eight hits and tied Sandy Koufax as the winningest pitcher in the majors with 22 victories as the Giants whipped Houston 5-1.

Hagen Returns Home

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Walter Hagen, one of the world's best known golfers, has returned to his home here after undergoing throat surgery in a Detroit hospital.

AFL Votes To Expand To 10 Teams By 1967

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League owners have voted to expand the league to 10 teams in 1967, and indicated they will add two more teams in 1968 and 1969.

The 10th team probably will be selected from among Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Milwaukee and Washington, AFL Commissioner Joe Foss told newsmen Monday after a meeting of the owners.

"The sentiment I got from the owners," Foss said, "was we can go to 12 teams. Expansion beyond the 10th team definitely is contemplated."

A strong supporter of expansion, Foss apparently got the owners to go down the line on his recommendations.

If the league is increased to 12 teams by 1969, it will mean a jump of four teams in four years.

Last July the owners voted to grant the league's ninth franchise to Miami.

Co-owners of the Miami club are comedian Danny Thomas and Joe Robbie. Robbie met with the other owners Monday as they formally extended and he formally accepted — for a reported $7½ million — the franchise.

The league also voted Monday to change the format for its All-Star game. Instead of pitting the All-Stars of its Eastern Division against the All-Stars of the Western Division, they will have the championship club play the All-Stars from all the other clubs. No site for the next All-Star game has been selected.

Tighter Controls Ordered For Contests At Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—City and school officials have announced night football games will continue in Hamilton but with tighter controls.

The announcement came Monday shortly after police reported the arrest of an 18-year-old youth in connection with the shooting Friday night of a Garfield High School player.

Recent incidents of violence and rowdyism had led officials to consider banning night games.

City and school officials met together and decided upon these recommendations:

—Routing of pupils from the games over streets on which troubles is less likely to occur.

—Asking parents to attend games with their children.

—Asking teachers to ride patrol with police after games to identify any youngsters who might cause trouble.

—Asking four policemen employed by Garfield to stay on duty an hour longer after games.

Police reported the arrest of Raymond Wyatt of Hamilton, who was charged with shooting with intent to kill. Detective Lt. Harold Carpenter said Wyatt admitted firing a shotgun blast Friday night following the Garfield-Cincinnati Colerain game. A Garfield cocaptain, Ronnie Sutton, 17, was hit by birdshot in his back and legs.

Sutton said he and about eight friends, and Negroes, were confronted by a group of whites. Sutton ran and the shotgun was fired. Wyatt said it was accidental, police reported.

Heat Spoils Practice In Amateur Golf

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A blazing Oklahoma sun boiled the starch out of Briton's challenge in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championships and left the English bulldog a bit droopy and bedraggled today going into the final practice rounds.

Even the dogs had deserted the rolling, 6,917 yards of the Southern Hills Country Club when a wilting, once-favored band of Englishmen trudged through their last practice session in record 103-degree temperatures.

"If the weather stays like this, you can count us out," Joe Carr, captain of the British Walker Cup team, said Monday.

The 65th National Championships open on the par 35-36—71 layout Wednesday under a new format — medal instead of match play. Four rounds of 18 holes each are scheduled through Saturday, with a field of 150 cut to the low 60 and ties after Thursday's second round. Continued hot weather is forecast.

The British challenge appeared to be the strongest since the 1930s after their surprising tie with this country's best in the Walker Cup matches at Baltimore two weeks ago.

In fact, figuring that the winner almost certainly will come from the Walker Cuppers — either British or American — the English appeared to have a 50 per cent chance of taking it.

Not so, says Carr.

"Your chaps may be used to this heat. We're not."

BATTING — Willie Mays, San Francisco, became the fifth player in major league history to hit 500 home runs, clouting his 47th of the season and igniting a four-run rally that powered the National League-leading Giants to their 11th straight victory, a 5-1 decision over Houston.

PITCHING — Juan Marichal, San Francisco, scattered eight hits and tied Sandy Koufax as the winningest pitcher in the majors with 22 victories as the Giants whipped Houston 5-1.

How Can I?

ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What can I do about remedying sticking drawers in chests?

A. — First sandpaper the edges smooth, then varnish them. The varnish seals the pores of the wood, and prevents swelling and shrinking. It's a good idea, too, to varnish or paint the inside of the drawers.

Q. — How can I prepare my own good furniture polish?

A. — By adding two tablespoons of olive oil and one tablespoon of vinegar to a quart of warm water. Keep this solution warm while using. It will wash off dirt and dust, and leave a light oil treatment on the wood. Rub dry with a clean, soft cloth.

Q. — How can I remove scorch stains from linen?

A. — If these aren't too deeply burned in, you might do some good by cutting a raw onion into halves and rubbing the flat side of one of these on the discolored area, then soaking the linen in cold water for several hours.

Q. — How can I make a better job of mending a tear in a net curtain?

A. — A coat of colorless fingernail polish applied over the tear, after mending it, makes a perfect finish. Press the frayed ends together until the polish dries. Iron the curtain carefully, avoiding the mending area.

Junior Editors Quiz on SOUND IN SPACE

QUESTION: How do scientists hear stars and other things in space?

ANSWER: We usually think of telescopes as instruments we look through (symbolized by upper picture) so as to enable us to see such exciting things as the rings around the planet Saturn.

But in recent years another kind of telescope has been invented, called a radio telescope. It collects radio waves instead of the light rays gathered in by optical telescopes. Light waves and radio waves are similar, but they differ in their rate of pulsation, or frequency. The same star can give off both kinds, these waves being able to come to us from enormous distances away. But don't make the mistake of thinking that sound waves can travel through space. Sound waves only travel through some kind of matter, like the earth's atmosphere. When we speak of sounds coming from space we mean radio waves picked up by a radio telescope (bottom picture) which, using a large reflector, focuses them on an antenna in the center. The signal is then led into a receiver set. Here it can be converted to sounds in the same way a radio changes electric signals to sound. Radio astronomers do more than just listen, for the signals can be recorded on graphs or tape, from which many facts about outer space can be gathered.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: It will help you, in learning the difference between radio and other telescopes, to find out what "frequency" means. Look it up in a dictionary or encylopedia.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman who became pregnant at 42. Here is my story and I hope it helps her.

I was 41 when I discovered I was pregnant. Our son was in the Navy and our young daughter was 8 years old. Our older daughter was engaged to be married. We gave her a big church wedding when I was in my seventh month. I had to make my own dress because I couldn't find a mother-of-the-bride gown in a maternity style.

I admit I was not thrilled at first but became reconciled to the fact that I would be raising another child and I tried to be cheerful about it.

My husband was burned up. He called me a dumbbell and told everyone who would listen that all women should be shot at age 40. I was sure he would get over his anger, but to my surprise he walked out on me the week after our daughter's wedding. I have not seen him since.

That was 18 years ago. My "baby" is now a handsome young man about to enter college. I had to go to work to support him and myself but with the help of my two older children I raised the boy.

When we went places together strangers couldn't figure out the relationship. Once he said to me (he was 10 years old at the time) I'll sock the next person who calls you my grandmother.

The "late arrival" cost me my husband, but if I had it to do over again I would not do it differently. This boy is the most marvelous thing that ever happened to me.—PAYING BUT GLAD.I

-:-

Dear Glad: That husband of yours sounds like a beaut. How wonderful that you didn't allow his leaving to turn you into a bitter old woman. Congratulations and best wishes.

Sleepers

Dear Ann: I liked your answer to the man who wrote about members of the choir falling asleep in church during the minister's sermon. It reminded me of an old story my father used to tell. Maybe you've heard it before. If you have it's too late to stop me.

A preacher who was delivering his sermon spotted a man in the congregation who was sleeping peacefully. He became annoyed and tried to awaken the slumbering parishioner by speaking loudly, but it was useless. Finally the preacher turned to the deacon and said, "Go wake that man up." The deacon replied, "Wake him up yourself. You're the one who put him to sleep."—SEATTLE SAM.

Dear Sam: Okay, now that you've shaved it and told it, how about waking up my readers? I'd like them to see the next letter.

Grateful Teen

Dear Ann: When you pick up a newspaper and see heart-breaking pictures of bony, starved, half - naked children wondering around the streets of a bombed-out Asian city and then you read the silly, inconsequential complaints that people write about to Ann Landers, doesn't it make you sick at your stomach?

Someone has a sister-in-law who is a tramp, or a neighbor who lets his dog bark at night, or a husband who drinks too much beer and sits around in his underwear. These are problems?

We Amercians should get down on our knees at night and thank God for the daily blessings of food and shelter and pray for peace.—TEEN FROM INDIANA.

Dear Teen: Amen.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Some Congressmen's Sons Had Summer Postal Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — With school starting and summer jobs completed, the Post Office Department has cleared the way for naming the students and other young people it hired under a special job program.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, in lifting a ban on disclosure of the hiring lists, disclosed that 39 per cent of the summer employes were recommended by Congress members. Some congressmen already have said their own sons were on the summer pay roll.

The other 61 per cent, Gronouski said, were referred by state employment and other local service agencies or by postmasters.

Some Republicans, among them Reps. Albert H. Quie of Minnesota and H. R. Gross of Iowa, had charged that many of the 8,600 summer employes were improperly selected under a program they said was designed for youths who needed money to continue their education.

Gronouski, defending the program, said a survey showed that 94.7 per cent of the summer workers plan to use their earnings to help pay for their education. The percentage was about the same for those hired on congressional recommendations, he said.

"No funds intended for the antipoverty campaign were used," he said in a statement Monday.

In the face of congressional and newspaper demands that the lists be made public, Gronouski had refused, saying it might "embarrass some of these innocent individuals by implying that they were guilty of an offense."

But Monday he authorized postmasters throughout the country to make the names of summer workers available upon request.

Long-standing postal regulations forbid giving out lists of postal employes and their pay, he said, but the ban can now be lifted for the summer workers since the young people are no longer on the pay roll.

Firm Chosen To Grade Lot

The Plate Excavating Co. of Wellsville R.D. 1, operated by Charles Plate, has been named to perform grading work on a lot on the south side of W. 5th St. near Jackson St. that is in the process of being converted to off-street parking, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The company was selected for the work on the basis of an informal bid of $150 or $13 an hour, whichever is less, the director said.

The city acquired the lot from the Hazel Laughlin estate, then razed two frame homes that occupied the site. The homes were demolished under contract and the basement areas were filled with rubble.

Plate is scheduled to grade the lot to a level 8 inches below the sidewalk and W. Drury Ln., the alley at the rear. Then the city will install a new sidewalk and apron approach for autos moving into the lot, the director said.

After installation of the sidewalk, the lot will be surfaced with blacktop by the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry and East Liverpool, awarded a $3,500 contract Sept. 3 by the Board of Control.

The entrance to the lot will be via W. 5th and motorists will leave the parking area via the alley, which connects with Jackson St.

Tri-State will lay 863 square yards of 2½-inch blacktop surface on a six-inch slag base.

The unuseable triangular strips on either side of the entrance will be made into planters for flowers or low shrubs, the director said. He said he proposes to build 9-inch-high brick planters on the two spots.

Norway's Voters Reject Socialism After 30 Years

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Ater 30 years of socialism, the Norwegians have voted out their government and decided to try something new.

According to unofficial figures after Monday's general election they have given a four-party coalition a surprising majority of 10 in the 150-member Storting (Parliament), for the next four years.

The Socialists were defeated by an upsurge of right and left-wing sentiment among Norway's 2.4 million voters.

There was a record turnout of an estimated 85 per cent of the voters to register the biggest upset in Scandinavian politics in decades.

Except for a brief interruption, Socialists have ruled in Sweden since 1932 and in Denmark since 1953.

The Norwegians will have to wait a few weeks before they know who will replace Premier Einar Gerhardsen, 68.

The coalition named no leader during the campaign and spokesmen said no government will be formed until after the Storting reconvenes on Oct. 1.

The victors successfully appealed to a widespread wish for a change because of disillusionment with tight state control of the economy.

The vote meant no change in foreign policy—membership in the Atlantic Alliance and stout support for the United Nations.

Xavier University Gets $750,000 Gift

CINCINNATI (AP)—The gift of $750,000 to Xavier University from the Walter E. Schott Family Foundation has been announced by the very Rev. Paul L. O'Connor, Xavier president.

Officials said the gift will be used for a new 80-room residence for the Jesuit Fathers and will be named after Schott, a Cincinnati industrialist who died in 1956.

Driver Cited After Mishap

The cars of a city man and a Kent motorist were damaged in a collision on Route 45 near Glasgow Monday afternoon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Harry Buckley, 51, of 944 Fairview St., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after his 1957 station wagon and another auto collided at the intersection of Route 45 and Township Rd. 1002 at 3:30 p. m.

Officers said Buckley was headed south, attempting to turn onto the township road, when he saw the approaching convertible operated by Robert Hoffman, 27, of Kent, and halted.

However, part of his car remained in the path of Hoffman's auto, which sideswiped it, causing moderate damage to both, officers said.

Officers are still investigating a mishap involving Walter Hucko, 21, of 323 1st St., Wellsville, whose 1955 coach struck a utility pole along Route 518 just west of Route 45 at West Point at 7:15 a. m. yesterday.

Hucko was headed east, the patrol said, when he lost control and the auto went off the road. Hucko, who received a bruise of the head, left the scene, but reported to the post last night.

Nancy Lewis, 23, of Girard escaped injury early yesterday when her 1961 coach, headed north about three miles south of Rogers, went off the left side of the road and hit a fence owned by Robert Wolfe of Rogers. The patrol said she fell asleep at the wheel in the 1:30 a. m. mishap.

Taft Raps U.S. Intervention In Steel Pact Talks

BOSTON, Mass (AP) — Former Congressman Robert Taft Jr. of Cincinnati Monday night rapped "government intervention" in the recent steel strike negotiations.

As a result of President Johnson's action in the steel negotiations, Taft said, "The expectation now is that in every major labor - management negotiation, the government, sooner or later, will come into the picture, and the President, using his powers and prestige, will, in effect, dictate a settlement."

Taft said the "entire process of collective bargaining is weakened" by "dominant government participation.

Taft, a Republican, spoke at a testimonial dinner for Republican Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts.

As a result of President Johnson's action in the steel negotiations, Taft said, "The expectation now is that in every major labor - management negotiation, the government, sooner or later, will come into the picture, and the President, using his powers and prestige, will, in effect, dictate a settlement."

Taft said the "entire process of collective bargaining is weakened" by "dominant government participation.

Taft, a Republican, spoke at a testimonial dinner for Republican Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts.

Coroner's Ruling Due In Death Of Boy, 18

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber was to rule today in the death of 18-year-old Arthur Gannon. The West Side youth's body was washed ashore from Lake Erie near Edgewater Park Monday.

Gannon's father, John A. Gannon, said he believed his son was the victim of foul play and asked police to investigate.

Police said there were no evident signs of violence.
